Romney Drive Said To Be Cooling Off

Ripon Society
Finds Candidate
Insubstantial

WASHINGTON (AP) — An organization of youthful, liberal Republicans reports Michigan Gov. George Romney is "in the lead, albeit shakily" for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination — but adds that his support seems to be cooling.

Those comments were published in the January newsletter of the Ripon Society, a Cambridge, Mass., organization devoted to the causes of liberal Republicanism.

They were based on the meeting of the Republican Governors Association in Colorado Springs, Colo., a month ago.

"Romney left both his admirers and those who came to be impressed wondering," the newsletter reported.

Then, as now, Romney — the favorite of many liberal and moderate Republicans for the 1968 nomination — said he was in the process of exploring the possibility of a bid for the White House.

"Some of Romney's backers, notably Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, were concerned with the crawling start of the Romney campaign," the Ripon Society publication said. "Once again, the press corps found Romney unprepared and wanting in substance."

"While some were worried by Romney's continued problems with the press, the professionals were more concerned with the governor's organizational efforts and some subtle changes in political climate," the society added.

"Romney's backers were slowly putting together a national staff. But it still lacked depth and breadth and some early appointments had come as genuine surprises to the governor's well-wishers."

"More important," the newsletter continued, "Romney support was cooling. The overriding tone was one of 'reserve' and 'wariness' toward early support for Romney."

Blizzards Race Toward Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wind-lashed blizzard roared into the northern Plains states today, dumping up to 12 inches of new snow on the Duluth area.

The depth of snow on the ground in Duluth was 27 inches.

The storm, which came down the eastern slope of the Rockies Friday, was pushed by winds of 40 and 50 miles an hour. Temperatures in many areas fell far below zero.

Blizzard or heavy-snow warnings were issued by local weather bureaus for parts of North Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago said 4 to 8 inches of new snow could be expected in parts of the eight states.

The Duluth snowfall came in 12 hours. At Alpena and Souda, Mich., the snowfall totaled five inches in six hours. Salt Lake City got five inches.

Hazardous - driving warnings followed the heavy-snow reports and later bitter cold moved into the snow belt.

At 1 a. m., the reading at Glasgow, Mont., was -14. At Key West, Fla., it was 72, the nation's high.

Freezing rain or sleet fell over sections of southern Michigan and showers and thunderstorms raked areas southward to the Gulf.

Some Rocky Mountain passes were blocked for a time by snowslides. At Afton, Wyo., a search was under way in an area where a 40-foot deep snow slide may have covered a logging contractor.

The decision following a Dec. 12 ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court, apparently clears the way for the predominantly Democratic legislature to choose Maddox over Republican Howard Callaway.

An Associated Press poll of state legislators had indicated that Maddox will win by a large majority.

Rep. Mac Pickard of Muskegon County, a Callaway strong-hold, has said he will offer a resolution proposing a runoff.

The contest was thrown into a deadlock when neither Maddox nor Callaway got the required majority because of write-ins for former Gov. Ellis G. Arnall. Unofficial returns gave Callaway 451,032, Maddox 448,598 and Arnall 57,832.

Gov. Carl E. Sanders has said he will remain in office until his successor is sworn.

'Zot' Gun Turns Toughs Into Blubbery Crybabies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Lawbreakers will need space helmets to avoid the new liquid-bullet "zot" guns issued to St. Petersburg police today.

The weapons go "squish" instead of "bang," and they turn their victims into blubbery crybabies, easily lugged off to the jailhouse to recuperate.

The device is called a "chemical mace," and it is more bug bomb than pistol. But a direct hit leaves a person harmless and stupefied.

It eventually may replace the time-honored nightstick.

The chemical, essentially concentrated tear gas, is contained in a pressurized cylinder two inches in diameter and eight inches long.

With a press of his thumb, an officer can send a stream of liquid up to 20 feet, aiming for the face. The victim erupts in blinding tears, his face burns, his nose runs and he gasps and folds up.

"You feel like crawling in a hole and pulling the dirt over you," says Sgt. John Sheffield, weapons officer. "And you stay that way for as long as two hours."

Two Pennsylvania firms make the stuff, and authorities in Pennsylvania, Iowa, Kentucky, Florida, New York, Missouri and Minnesota have put it in service.

"It's a self-defense item," says Sheffield. "The drunk who comes at you in a bar, a hood with a knife, a demonstrator who loses control emotionally but you don't want to knock him over the head."

Howard Noyes, a St. Petersburg Times reporter, volunteered to test two drops of the chemical on his cheeks.

"I was weeping. I could no longer see Sheffield who was standing two feet away. There was a sensation in my nose which made it feel like it was wrinkling."

"I sat down on the floor simply because I didn't feel like standing anymore," Noyes wrote.

Government Dismisses Coplon Case

Spy Charges
Have Dragged on
For 17 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm very proud of my mother for what she went through," the 14-year-old daughter of Judith Coplon said today. "And that goes for all my little brothers."

After 17 years, the Justice Department dismissed spy charges against Miss Coplon Friday, marking the end of a strange case.

During those years, the one-time Justice Department analyst married Albert H. Socolov, one of the lawyers who defended her on appeal, and gave birth to the daughter and three sons.

She faded into obscurity until Friday when the Justice Department made its announcement in Washington.

At the government's request, federal courts in Washington and in New York dismissed indictments alleging that Miss Coplon, now 45, had stolen secret government files and conspired to turn them over to the Soviet Union. She never served any of the total of 25 years in prison to which the courts sentenced her because appeals (Continued on Page 10)

Governor May Amplify Plan At Inaugural

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Aides asserted Saturday that Gov. James A. Rhodes may amplify his announced intention of making Ohio "No. 1" in his second-term inaugural address Monday.

After four years of launching and developing major programs, the governor apparently feels that success in several areas is barely a good push away.

Some say it wouldn't surprise them to hear Rhodes indicate that his plans for Ohio come ahead of any national bonanza that might steer his way before the job is done.

They referred to reports that Rhodes may become an avowed candidate for the Republican presidential or vice presidential nomination about September.

Discounting such speculation, the governor explains that next fall is the season for "favorite son" candidates to announce for president if they want to lead home state delegations to the 1968 national conventions.

Rhodes was Ohio's "favorite son" at the 1964 GOP convention in San Francisco and obviously looks forward to the same role again.

Streamlined inauguration ceremonies are scheduled to start at 8 a. m. in the redecorated Statehouse rotunda.

New Congress Scrutinizes Vietnam War

Committee Members
To Get Briefing
From CIA Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress opens its scrutiny of the Vietnam war Monday with a Senate committee scheduled to get a top-secret appraisal from the director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Intelligence chief Richard Helms' briefing of Sen. Richard B. Russell's special CIA subcommittee Monday — the day before Congress convenes — is expected to include the agency's evaluation of the impact of U.S. bombing on North Vietnam.

The CIA has been reported as skeptical of whether the air attacks are damaging Hanoi's will to continue the war.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the Senate CIA panel, said Friday the present scale of bombing had not been an "outstanding success" in preventing the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops.

"The number of troops flowing from the North is considerably more than we were told last year would be coming down this year," Symington told a news conference after returning from the war area.

Symington, a member of the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees, said he was more pessimistic than a year ago and "more favorably inclined" toward a political settlement.

The Senate leaders — Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen — didn't agree in separate pre-session interviews on whether peace talks appeared any nearer.

Mansfield expressed belief that "the opening has been enlarged" for possible negotiations through U.S. efforts at the United Nations.

But Dirksen said there has been "no hard evidence and no firm clues" that Hanoi wants to negotiate.

They agreed on one thing: The war will be a hot subject of debate in the 90th Congress.

State Wants Better Image In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department wants to rebuild its image on Capitol Hill. It will start by reorganizing its congressional liaison apparatus.

Assistant Secretary of State Douglas MacArthur II will relinquish his post as head of the department's Bureau of Congressional Relations, probably before spring.

MacArthur is a career ambassador, the highest rank in the foreign service, and is expected to get a new ambassadorial assignment abroad. He was U.S. envoy to Japan and to Belgium before President John F. Kennedy appointed him assistant secretary in 1961.

Nicholas Katzenbach, who replaced George W. Ball as under-secretary last fall, initiated the effort to create a more cordial atmosphere between the department and Congress, sources said.

They said the former attorney general believes, for instance, that better cooperation with Congress would have kept the 1964 consular convention with the Soviet Union from dying in committee. The bill will be re-submitted some time this year.

Katzenbach also is understood to have encouraged the department's regional assistant secretaries to establish direct contact with congressional committees.

Such contact has been channeled through MacArthur's bureau, but the thinking now is that the African Bureau, for example with its greater expertise in affairs on the continent, should talk directly to congressmen interested in African affairs.

Is Hanoi Truly Seeking Peace?

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a week of peace probing, U.S. officials report serious doubt that North Vietnam is interested now in negotiations on ending the Vietnamese war.

The primary aim of the North Vietnam peace maneuvers is judged here to be to build up public opinion against U.S. bombing of the north and thus try to force a permanent and unconditional halt to the air attacks.

Some officials said that the effort being made through diplomatic channels as well as public statements in this respect is almost unprecedented.

Soviet and Eastern European diplomats and officials have been telling U.S. authorities for several months, it is understood, that if the United States would stop the bombing they believe the way would open for an improvement in peace prospects.

But, according to U.S. informants, these diplomats have failed to provide any assurances that some scaling down of military activity on the Communist side would result.

The basic U.S. position is that if this country is to stop the bombing, North Vietnam must also de-escalate — presumably by ceasing to send men and supplies to the Communist forces in the south.

Worldwide interest in possible new peace developments was aroused earlier this week when North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong said in an interview with the New York Times that his government's terms, known as the four points, for winding up the conflict were not "conditions" for holding talks. He described them as a "basis of settlement."

Friday an English language broadcast from Hanoi said the premier had told the Times that the four-point position of North Vietnam "constitutes the basis of a settlement." This was read by authorities in Washington as a possible hardening of Hanoi's position since it could be interpreted as meaning that the four (Continued on Page 10)

Motel Blast Fatal to 6 In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A massive explosion that killed at least six persons in a downtown motel early today was caused by a bomb, county officials declared.

"It has to be a bomb. There's no question," said Dist. Atty. George E. Franklin. "There's no gas in the building, but we don't know if it's suicide or what."

Officers said as many as 20 persons may also have been hurt by the blast.

The Clark County Coroner's Office said the body of the sixth victim had just been found in the rubble on the top floor of the three-story motel, the Orbit Inn.

Officers said much of the motel was demolished, that the explosion apparently occurred on the third floor. Officers continued to search the rubble.

A witness said windows throughout the motel were shattered, but that there was apparently no fire. Firemen were standing by at the scene.

The blast occurred at 1:25 a. m., officers said.

Investigators quickly surrounded the scene and pushed spectators out of range. News-men who gathered at the motel were also kept on the sidelines.

The identities of the victims were not immediately available. Deputy Coroner Harvey Schnitzer said "six occupants are unaccounted for, but we have, we think, six victims." He said the bodies of those recovered so far are extremely mangled.

Schnitzer said he found a skull in an alley across from the building, and that a woman's leg was found embedded in a brick wall.

He said authorities have asked for an FBI team to come from Washington to help with identification of the dead.

As dawn approached, bodies were being laid out on a parking lot in big black rubber bags in front of a panel truck, a county sheriff's identification unit.

Health officials closed off the entire block because sewers in the area were beginning to overflow.

GM Recalls 269,200 Cars

Steering Shafts
Badly Installed

DETROIT (AP) — Collapsible steering columns, much heralded as safety devices, were in the spotlight today because of faulty installation as General Motors Corp. recalled 269,200 new cars.

The largest of the nation's four auto makers said the steering shafts in the company's smaller model 1967 cars will be replaced because they may snap.

Eight such failures have been reported so far — five in Pontiacs, two in Chevrolets and one in a Buick — all at low speeds while parking or turning, GM said.

The steering shafts are the new, impact-absorbing columns designed to collapse under extreme pressure, such as that from a collision throwing the driver against the steering wheel.

The defect is in the way the shaft was installed, not in the design of it, the company said.

The faulty installation resulted in misalignment of the shaft, placing too much strain on it during certain maneuvers of the car, GM said.

The stress, although not noticeable to the driver, may cause the shaft to break, the firm said.

GM spokesmen were unavailable for comment on whether the problem might leave a car uncontrollable at high speeds.

The fault was first discovered in December and the firm began recalling Pontiac Tempests Dec. 19. A GM announcement at the time said the shaft could break "particularly when the vehicle is being parked or being turned at slow speeds."

The firm said that of the 269,200 cars involved, 89,950 are Chevrolet Chevelles and El Caminos, 75,103 are Pontiac Tempests, 56,441 are Oldsmobile F85s and 46,749 are Buick Specials.

The 269,200 cars are in the hands of customers. Models of the cars in dealers' stock will be "equipped with a new steering shaft before they are put on sale," GM said.

All Dropouts Please Note

CHICAGO (AP) — The artwork of three chimpanzees — Betsy, Congo and Zippy — is now on display at the Field Museum of Natural History.

Eight paintings, several with an orange tang, have evoked much comment from patrons of the institution.

"It's as good as some shows we've seen," one art buff said while studying the colorful works.

"I think we draw too sharp a line between human and animal endeavor," his companion commented.

A woman told her two young children: "When you're just as good as the little monkeys you can paint, too."

The paintings were a gift of the late Emily Crane Chadbourne of Chicago as an example of the behavior of great apes in a field generally restricted to man.

Allied Force Meets Little Resistance

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. and Vietnamese marines pushed through forbidding mangrove swamps of the Mekong Delta today and met only slight resistance in the first big American thrust into the delta.

A combined allied force of about 4,000 landed by sea and helicopter Friday 55 miles due south of Saigon on the Thanh Phu Peninsula. Only small, sniper contacts with the enemy were reported.

The operation was the biggest amphibious landing of the war and marked the first major deployment of American troops in the rice field and water-logged deltas where an estimated 100,000 Viet Cong dominate large sections.

As the pace of the ground war quickened after a week's lull, Communist forces in the central highlands unleashed a heavy mortar and ground assault early today against the same airfield at Pleiku where an attack two years ago touched off U. S. air bombings of North Vietnam and led to the massive buildup of American forces in South Vietnam.

A U. S. spokesman said the Communists unloaded more than 100 mortar rounds on Holoway Airfield close to Pleiku City about 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Earlier reports had said 200 to 300 mortar rounds were fired.

The spokesman said 10 enemy soldiers penetrated the airfield and inflicted "light damage" to helicopters and small observation planes. He added that U. S. casualties were light in the 45-minute attack, but several buildings were damaged. (Continued on Page 10)

Plans Vague For Present

KEY LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk says he would have to clear with the Episcopal bishop of Florida any plans to marry Brazilian Erika Mittfield. Miss Mittfield, said to be in her late 20s, recently divorced Brazilian theatrical producer Carlos Eduardo Dolabella. Kirk also is divorced.

Pressed for specifics about the wedding reports, he said he would "have to clear that with the bishop."

He referred to the Rt. Rev. Hamilton West, Episcopal bishop of Florida, who has said divorced church members must wait at least a year after getting a decree to remarry. Kirk was divorced from his former wife, Sarah, for the second time last March.

New Congress Scrutinizes Vietnam War

Committee Members
To Get Briefing
From CIA Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress opens its scrutiny of the Vietnam war Monday with a Senate committee scheduled to get a top-secret appraisal from the director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Intelligence chief Richard Helms' briefing of Sen. Richard B. Russell's special CIA subcommittee Monday — the day before Congress convenes — is expected to include the agency's evaluation of the impact of U.S. bombing on North Vietnam.

The CIA has been reported as skeptical of whether the air attacks are damaging Hanoi's will to continue the war.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the Senate CIA panel, said Friday the present scale of bombing had not been an "outstanding success" in preventing the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops.

"The number of troops flowing from the North is considerably more than we were told last year would be coming down this year," Symington told a news conference after returning from the war area.

Symington, a member of the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees, said he was more pessimistic than a year ago and "more favorably inclined" toward a political settlement.

The Senate leaders — Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen — didn't agree in separate pre-session interviews on whether peace talks appeared any nearer.

Mansfield expressed belief that "the opening has been enlarged" for possible negotiations through U.S. efforts at the United Nations.

But Dirksen said there has been "no hard evidence and no firm clues" that Hanoi wants to negotiate.

They agreed on one thing: The war will be a hot subject of debate in the 90th Congress.

State Wants Better Image In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department wants to rebuild its image on Capitol Hill. It will start by reorganizing its congressional liaison apparatus.

Assistant Secretary of State Douglas MacArthur II will relinquish his post as head of the department's Bureau of Congressional Relations, probably before spring.

MacArthur is a career ambassador, the highest rank in the foreign service, and is expected to get a new ambassadorial assignment abroad. He was U.S. envoy to Japan and to Belgium before President John F. Kennedy appointed him assistant secretary in 1961.

Nicholas Katzenbach, who replaced George W. Ball as under-secretary last fall, initiated the effort to create a more cordial atmosphere between the department and Congress, sources said.

They said the former attorney general believes, for instance, that better cooperation with Congress would have kept the 1964 consular convention with the Soviet Union from dying in committee. The bill will be re-submitted some time this year.

Katzenbach also is understood to have encouraged the department's regional assistant secretaries to establish direct contact with congressional committees.

Such contact has been channeled through MacArthur's bureau, but the thinking now is that the African Bureau, for example with its greater expertise in affairs on the continent, should talk directly to congressmen interested in African affairs.

Is Hanoi Truly Seeking Peace?

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a week of peace probing, U.S. officials report serious doubt that North Vietnam is interested now in negotiations on ending the Vietnamese war.

The primary aim of the North Vietnam peace maneuvers is judged here to be to build up public opinion against U.S. bombing of the north and thus try to force a permanent and unconditional halt to the air attacks.

Some officials said that the effort being made through diplomatic channels as well as public statements in this respect is almost unprecedented.

Soviet and Eastern European diplomats and officials have been telling U.S. authorities for several months, it is understood, that if the United States would stop the bombing they believe the way would open for an improvement in peace prospects.

But, according to U.S. informants, these diplomats have failed to provide any assurances that some scaling down of military activity on the Communist side would result.

The basic U.S. position is that if 'this country is to stop the bombing, North Vietnam must also de-escalate — presumably by ceasing to send men and supplies to the Communist forces in the south.

Worldwide interest in possible new peace developments was aroused earlier this week when North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong said in an interview with the New York Times that his government's terms, known as the four points,

Motel Blast Fatal to 6 In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A massive explosion that killed at least six persons in a downtown motel early today was caused by a bomb, county officials declared.

"It has to be a bomb. There's no question," said Dist. Atty. George E. Franklin. "There's no gas in the building, but we don't know if it's suicide or what."

Officers said as many as 20 persons may also have been hurt by the blast.

The Clark County Coroner's Office said the body of the sixth victim had just been found in the rubble on the top floor of the three-story motel, the Orbit Inn.

Officers said much of the motel was demolished, that the explosion apparently occurred on the third floor. Officers continued to search the rubble.

A witness said windows throughout the motel were shattered, but that there was apparently no fire. Firemen were standing by at the scene.

The blast occurred at 1:25 a. m., officers said.

Investigators quickly surrounded the scene and pushed spectators out of range. News-men who gathered at the motel were also kept on the sidelines.

The identities of the victims were not immediately available. Deputy Coroner Harvey Schnitzer said "six occupants are unaccounted for, but we have, we think, six victims." He said the bodies of those recovered so far are extremely mangled.

Schnitzer said he found a skull in an alley across from the building, and that a woman's leg was found embedded in a brick wall.

He said authorities have asked for an FBI team to come from Washington to help with identification of the dead.

As dawn approached, bodies were being laid out on a parking lot in big black rubber bags in front of a panel truck, a county sheriff's identification unit.

Health officials closed off the entire block because sewers in the area were beginning to overflow.

Allied Force Meets Little Resistance

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. and Vietnamese marines pushed through forbidding mangrove swamps of the Mekong Delta today and met only slight resistance in the first big American thrust into the delta.

A combined allied force of about 4,000 landed by sea and helicopter Friday 55 miles due south of Saigon on the Thanh Phu Peninsula. Only small, sniper contacts with the enemy were reported.

The operation was the biggest amphibious landing of the war and marked the first major deployment of American troops in the rice field and water-logged deltas where an estimated 100,000 Viet Cong dominate large sections.

As the pace of the ground war quickened after a week's lull, Communist forces in the central highlands unleashed a heavy mortar and ground assault early today against the same airfield at Pleiku where an attack two years ago touched off U. S. air bombings of North Vietnam and led to the massive buildup of American forces in South Vietnam.

A U. S. spokesman said the Communists unloaded more than 100 mortar rounds on Holoway Airfield close to Pleiku City about 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Earlier reports had said 200 to 300 mortar rounds were fired.

The spokesman said 10 enemy soldiers penetrated the airfield and inflicted "light damage" to helicopters and small observation planes. He added that U.S. casualties were light in the 45-minute attack, but several buildings were damaged.

Plans Vague For Present

KEY LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk says he would have to clear with the Episcopal bishop of Florida any plans to marry Brazilian Erika Mittfield.

Miss Mittfield, said to be in her late 20s, recently divorced Brazilian theatrical producer Carlos Eduardo Dolabella. Kirk also is divorced.

Pressed for specifics about the wedding reports, he said he would "have to clear that with the bishop."

He referred to the Rt. Rev. Hamilton West, Episcopal bishop of Florida, who has said divorced church members must wait at least a year after getting a decree to remarry. Kirk was divorced from his former wife, Sarah, for the second time last March.

Do you examine all ready to wear garments for construction defects before you buy? It really is time well spent and your satisfaction throughout the life of the item is guaranteed to be much better.

Here are a few construction defects to watch for:

SEAM PUCKERING — No matter what the color or quality of fabric, if the seams are puckered the appearance of the garment is poor. If a new garment puckers the slightest bit, it is almost certain that after laundering the puckering will be objectionable.

This problem could be caused by shrinking of sewing thread or incorrect tension during construction — the results of which are not evident until after washing. Manufacturers of wash-and-wear garments often defeat the easy care features of the fabric with seam construction that will pucker after washing. Pressing may or may not eliminate the puckering.

BIAS TWIST AT HEMS — Check the hems of shirts to be sure threads in the hem align with those in the body of the garment. If they do not, an uneven hem may develop when the shirt is washed. Originally, the sewing machine operator probably did not guide the fabric through the machine with equal pressure on the upper and lower fabric.

New Guides On Agronomy Now Available

The 1967 Ohio Agronomy Guide replaces the 1966 guide and combines into one publication agronomic recommendations formerly contained in several annual publications. It is believed that using this procedure more material will be readily available.

The bulletin contains recommendations on crop variety selection, fertilizers, lime, weed control and other cultural practices in one publication.

The authors feel that with all recommendations in one publication that farmers will follow more closely recommended production practices. This should give each farmer a greater economic return per acre.

The field of agronomy includes all phases of crop production, soil and water management, soil fertility, plant breeding and weed control. It is the foundation of agriculture in the state of Ohio.

Each year the gross value of all agronomic crops produced in Ohio is about $750 million or about three-fourths of the total agricultural production. Some crops such as corn, hay and pasture are marketed almost completely through livestock.

Soil is the world's greatest natural resource. From it comes the food, fiber, oil and feed that support the human and animal populations of the earth. Upon it we must depend for the future demands of a very rapidly expanding population.

This new publication may be secured at the County Extension office, 137 W. Franklin St.

School Due On Forage Production

High yields of forage of high quality can often be the difference between profit and loss on Pickaway County dairy and beef farms, according to A. J. Baxter, Area Extension agent, agronomy.

Ways to improve quality of hay silage and pasture crops and to increase yields will be emphasized at a two-day forage school to be held in London, Jan. 10 and Jan. 24 from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., at the Junior Fair Building.

George Gist, Extension agronomist from Ohio State University, Robert Fleming, Madison County agent, Russell Lighty, ASC office manager and Baxter will present information on use of annual forages, importance of timely harvesting, alfalfa weevil control, ACP programs, meadow establishment, forage varieties and seeding mixtures as well as other timely forage information.

Farmers and others who are interested in the production of high quality forage crops are urged to attend both days of the school. Further details about the school can be obtained from the Pickaway County Extension office.

Farmers interested in attending may contact the Pickaway County Office and transportation will be made as a group.

By JAMES R. HELT

County Extension Agent, 4-H

The Pickaway County Extension 4-H Advisory Committee recently reorganized met Thursday evening.

The new committee is composed of Mrs. Ralph Ankrom, Don Archer, and Susan Bennett, from Circleville school district; Mrs. Robert Jones, Sterling Poling, and Lorna Poling, from Logan Elm School district; Mrs. Royce Woolever, William Winter and James Barr, from Teays Valley School district; Mrs. Clyde Karshner, Paul Schein, and Kar-n Spire, from Westfall school district.

These people will represent their districts on the advisory committee and will provide liaison between the committee and the community. The committee's primary purpose will be to provide guidance to the county Extension staff in planning and conducting educational programs in agriculture, home economics and related subjects for young people in Pickaway County.

The committee will consider such program concerns as: the philosophy and objectives of 4-H club work, the developmental tasks of young people at various age levels, the organizational and enrollment procedures that will provide the most optimum advisor recruitment and member enrollment, the needs of advisors and specific plans for advisor education and training in teaching methods, organizational functions of 4-H clubs and subject matter competencies. 4-H member evaluation, officer training and member learning experiences, Jr. Leadership, awards and recognition and recommendations from the State 4-H Advisory Committee.

They will meet approximately six times per year to discuss plans and evaluate the programs, in addition to making recommendations for improvement and expansion.

Plans are being completed to hold an officers and leadership workshop for 4-H members, advisors, and parents on January 31, 1967. This will be one of two conferences, the other to be held in May.

Beatrice Cleveland, assistant state leader, 4-H, will be present at the Jan. 31 meeting to meet with advisors and Jr. Leaders on the topic of improving the challenge and leadership opportunities of Jr. Leaders.

The Jr. Leadership Club is presently sponsoring a county safety program involving the need for car owners to have emergency flares in their cars. The club is selling the flares as a community project and a fund raising project. The flares are available from Jr. Leader members.

4-H members with steer feeding projects in 1967 weighed their calves today for the Rate of Gain program, at the Bowling Stockyards and the Armour Stockyards in Mt. Sterling.

The purpose of the Rate of Gain program is to encourage 4-H members to work toward a goal in feeding beef cattle economically and efficiently.

Complete Account Records Are Important to Farmers

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Complete and accurate account records are important to farmers, as important as any tool on the farm.

Record keeping is an important part of farm management. The need for a complete farm account record system becomes increasingly more important as the size of operation and investment increases.

Records can be used as a tool to aid in investment decisions, expansion decisions, cash flow analysis, and a measure of efficiency in crop, livestock, and total farm production.

The main purpose for keeping records on most farms is to provide information necessary for income tax reporting. Other records important to the farm operation include: inventory, depreciation, crop production, hired labor, and a record of change in net worth.

THERE has been increasing interest in recent years in enterprise records. The Extension Farm Management Department has prepared an enterprise record for area hog producers. This record can be used to collect data on the cost of production and labor input on a feeder pig operation, a hog finishing operation, or both.

A commercial farm account book which provides the detailed records necessary for income tax reporting, and also a complete farm business analysis is available from the Pickaway County Extension office.

This record book is available in a loose-leaf or bound form. The swine enterprise record sheets are also available from the County Extension Office.

An open meeting to discuss farm business analysis will be held starting 1:30 p. m. Jan. 13 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

Feed Costs Show Decline When Cattle Herd Hiked

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

A study of 168 beef feeding records showed that costs of producing 100 pounds of beef declined as the number of cattle on feed increased. These records were kept in 1963 and 1964 by farmers in Pickaway, Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Wood, Hancock and Clinton Counties.

Costs declined rapidly when the number of cattle on feed increased from 50 to 120 head. Costs declined at a slower rate as cattle numbers increased from 120 to 240 head. Only a slight decline in costs occurred when the number of cattle on feed rose above 240 head.

Economies due to size of operation produced lower costs for labor, tractor power, buildings and equipment. Costs per 100 lb. of gain were lowered as follows when the number of cattle on feed increased from 50 to 640 head: labor, $2.10; tractor power, .42 cents and buildings and equipment, $1.33.

The large cattle feeders had lower feed costs than the small feeders. Part of this difference was due to cheaper protein supplement. For example, this feed cost $5.80 per hundredweight when 50 head were fed compared with $4.83 when 640 cattle were fed to slaughter weights. Part of these savings appears to be due to purchasing protein supplement in larger quantities. Building investment per 100 pounds of gain ranged from $24.65 when 50 animals were fed out to $14.71 when the size of herd averaged 640 head.

Prices used to determine costs were as follows: Labor, $1.50 per hour; tractor power, $1.25 per hour; corn, $1.10 per bushel; oats, $.65 per bushel; hay, $22 per ton; corn silage, $8 per ton plus storage, and grass silage, $6 per ton plus storage. Protein supplement, which includes minerals, salt and some antibiotics, was charged at actual cost.

Interest at five per cent was figured against all operator and landlord owned capital invested in the beef enterprise. Borrowed capital was charged at the actual rate paid by the farmer. No charge was made for bedding, since the cost of this item was assumed to equal the value of the manure produced. The figures do not include any charges for marketing the slaughter animals after they leave the farm.

Labor inputs include the direct labor used to care for the cattle and such jobs as grinding feed on the farm, hauling bedding and manure and repairing cattle buildings and equipment.

Do you examine all ready to wear garments for construction defects before you buy? It really is time well spent and your satisfaction throughout the life of the item is guaranteed to be much better.

Here are a few construction defects to watch for:

SEAM PUCKERING — No matter what the color or quality of fabric, if the seams are puckered the appearance of the garment is poor. If a new garment puckers the slightest bit, it is almost certain that after laundering the puckering will be objectionable.

This problem could be caused by shrinking of sewing thread or incorrect tension during construction — the results of which are not evident until after washing. Manufacturers of wash-and-wear garments often defeat the easy care features of the fabric with seam construction that will pucker after washing. Pressing may or may not eliminate the puckering.

BIAS TWIST AT HEMS — Check the hems of shirts to be sure threads in the hem align with those in the body of the garment. If they do not, an uneven hem may develop when the shirt is washed. Originally, the sewing machine operator probably did not guide the fabric through the machine with equal pressure on the upper and lower fabric.

This causes a distortion of yarns, which, when washed will tend to straighten; however, since they are held by the sewing thread, this cannot occur and an uneven hem results. The only way to correct this problem is to open the hem and re-sew it.

SEAM SLIPPAGE — This is most likely to occur on silk, rayon and acetate woven fabrics depending on construction procedures used. Check the seam — when force is applied across it — to see if fibers tend to pull apart. This problem occurs more readily on garments which fit too tightly.

WEAK SEAMS — You will be glad to hear that new threads are presently being developed to alleviate this problem and produce stronger seams. Weak seams have been caused by using cotton thread with many of our synthetic fibers.

Waitress's uniforms, for example, of all synthetic yarns are annoying to the wearer at times as a sewing thread breaks and seams require repair. Many women have mentioned permanent press slacks which appear to "crock" along seams for the same reason that cotton in the blend is not as strong and wears as it rubs against the synthetic fibers. The new thread being developed — called core-spun — is made by using a synthetic yarn as the core and wrapping it with cotton.

There are a few basic rules for knife care, not only to insure against dull edges but for greater personal safety.

1. Always cut food on a wooden board, never on a metallic, glass, or china surface. This provides better safety for the knife edge and the user, and helps to prevent dullness.

2. Place carving or cutting board on counter or table top, not in the sink or on a metal pan.

3. Use knives only for the purpose for which they were designed, never for cutting bones, metal, string, or paper.

4. Store knives separately, so that cutting edges will not become dulled by knocking against each other. Either a slotted wooden holder, into which the blade can be inserted for drawer or wall storage, or a magnetic surfaced wall holder are satisfactory. Never drop knives loosely into a drawer — it's a dangerous practice and one which quickly dulls the edges.

5. Rinse, wash, and dry knives immediately after use. Never soak. When hand washing, hold the handle out of the water, washing down the blade. Don't use scouring powder on the edge of blades.

6. Don't wash knives in an automatic dishwasher unless heat and moisture-resistant handles are provided by the manufacturer.

7. Never heat knife in a flame; the heat will destroy the temper of the steel.

Feed Costs Show Decline When Cattle Herd Hiked

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

A study of 168 beef feeding records showed that costs of producing 100 pounds of beef declined as the number of cattle on feed increased. These records were kept in 1963 and 1964 by farmers in Pickaway, Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Wood, Hancock and Clinton Counties.

Costs declined rapidly when the number of cattle on feed increased from 50 to 120 head. Costs declined at a slower rate as cattle numbers increased from 120 to 240 head. Only a slight decline in costs occurred when the number of cattle on feed rose above 240 head.

Economies due to size of operation produced lower costs for labor, tractor power, buildings and equipment. Costs per 100 lb. of gain were lowered as follows when the number of cattle on feed increased from 50 to 640 head: labor, $2.10; tractor power, 42 cents and buildings and equipment, $1.33.

The large cattle feeders had lower feed costs than the small feeders. Part of this difference was due to cheaper protein supplement. For example, this feed cost $5.80 per hundredweight when 50 head were fed compared with $4.83 when 640 cattle were fed to slaughter weights. Part of these savings appears to be due to purchasing protein supplement in larger quantities. Building investment per 100 pounds of gain ranged from $24.65 when 50 animals were fed out to $14.71 when the size of herd averaged 640 head.

Prices used to determine costs were as follows: Labor, $1.50 per hour; tractor power, $1.25 per hour; corn, $1.10 per bushel; oats, $.65 per bushel; hay, $22 per ton; corn silage, $8 per ton plus storage, and grass silage, $6 per ton plus storage. Protein supplement, which includes minerals, salt and some antibiotics, was charged at actual cost.

Interest at five per cent was figured against all operator and landlord owned capital invested in the beef enterprise. Borrowed capital was charged at the actual rate paid by the farmer. No charge was made for bedding, since the cost of this item was assumed to equal the value of the manure produced. The figures do not include any charges for marketing the slaughter animals after they leave the farm.

Labor inputs include the direct labor used to care for the cattle and such jobs as grinding feed on the farm, hauling bedding and manure and repairing cattle buildings and equipment.

Ball Installs New System For Manure

Bernard Ball of Commercial Point and Vance Hendricks of Denton Rd., south of Grove City, are among the first farmers in Central Ohio to install systems for liquid manure.

They claim that collecting manure in a tank and pumping it out is going to save them a lot of work. And they say they'll have much less waste than when they used manhandling methods.

Both farmers recently built underground concrete tanks. Ball's is rectangular, 20 by 50 feet, and holds 75,000 gallons. He keeps 125 Holstein cattle on his farm of 317 acres.

Hendricks built a circular tank twenty - four feet in diameter to hold 34,000 gal. He farms 440 acres and feeds 300 hogs.

The tanks are 10 feet deep with walls 8 inches thick. Each is covered with a 10-inch slab that is flush with the surface of the adjoining paved lot. An auger device agitates the manure and loosens it for removal.

The same pump that takes the manure from the tank can be used to spread it on the fields. Pumping will be done at intervals of two to three months.

Ag Secretary Sees Federal Role in Future as Referee

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman sees the federal government—returning to a role of referee—rather than an active participant—in the marketplace for farm products.

This was a role the government had before farm aid and crop control programs were authorized in the mid-1930s. The shift, as Freeman sees it, is spurred by elimination of troublesome farm surpluses—except in the case of cotton—as a result of mounting demands of a hungry world.

Before the big farm programs were established, the government's activity in farm markets was limited largely to supervision of commodity markets to prevent price manipulation and unfair trade practices, and to the dissemination of vital information regarding crops and livestock designed to help farmers deal with buyers of their products.

But the farm programs put the Agriculture Department into the job of influencing farm prices by such mechanisms as production controls—designed to hold down price depressing surpluses—price supports, the subsidization of exports.

Assuming Freeman is correct in saying that the government is returning to the role of a referee, no one can say that such a role will be long-lived. Should farm production this year expand sharply—and there is possibility it will—the government could be back in the business of acquiring new surpluses which could be used later in influencing market prices.

'Revisionists' Win Out In Moscow Flower Market

MOSCOW (AP) — Private merchants and state stores competed here during the holiday season, selling flowers to brighten the dreary Moscow winter.

The state lost. A rare experiment in this state-run economy allowed farmers in the Soviet south to fly here, sell flowers on street corners or in subways, and pocket any profits.

Muscovites flocked to the salesmen and eagerly gobbled up their bouquets. Next day more arrived and the same pattern continued.

State flower stores, with meager supplies or only expensive potted plants, lost customers and money.

The Soviet labor paper Trud asked why the state flower stores did not think of buying flowers from collective farmers in the south and selling them here.

Then the paper reported that the state plans to do just that. It said stores in Moscow will sell flowers grown by collective farmers on their private plots.

Farmers are permitted to raise crops and animals on these small private plots after they finish their chores on state-run collective farms. They can farm these plots for home use, or they can sell the goods privately, in farmers' markets. Quite a lot of Soviet meat, milk, vegetables and potatoes comes from these small private plots where personal incentives are higher than on collective farms.

Mikhail A. Shishayev, director of the state flower stores in Moscow, told Trud that speculators had gone south, bought flowers at low prices, returned here and pocketed large profits.

Trud agreed that speculators were a problem but it said the result was good, "a sea of flowers in Moscow."

It said there was a good answer for eliminating speculators, increasing the sale from private plots, increasing supplies here and benefiting the state — the state should open stores to the produce from private plots.

Stamp Society Concludes Bizarre Deal with Forger

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Officials of the American Philatelic Society claim they have canceled an international stamp forgery operation by buying an elderly Mexican's "complete holdings" of original drawings, engraving plates, correspondence and sales records.

Details of the transaction were disclosed by Edward L. Willard of State College, Pa., president of the society which represents more than 200,000 U.S. stamp collectors.

Willard said Raul Ch. de Thuin, 76, of Merida, Mexico, had been making imitations of valuable antique stamps for more than 30 years, and had bilked stamp collectors out of "several millions of dollars" over that period.

He said the society arranged to buy De Thuin's "unique products" after nearly a year of international negotiations. He would not disclose how much the society had paid De Thuin for the material.

The society, Willard said, had named a five-man committee, to conduct the negotiations in cooperation with the U.S. and Mexican governments.

Two members of the committee flew to Mexico last Dec. 6 after the Treasury Department approved the proposed negotiations, he said.

"Within nine days, De Thuin accepted an undisclosed amount of cash to sell out his entire holdings," Willard said. "He also signed a statement admitting he engaged in counterfeiting philatelic material, then inked an agreement to bind himself to quit the 'business' forever."

Willard explained that Mexican authorities had not been able to take action against De Thuin because its laws make it a crime to forge current stamps, but not stamps that were printed several years ago and are no longer usable for postal service.

Segregation in Ohio Pen Is Self-Imposed by Men

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There is racial segregation in Ohio Penitentiary, prison officials grant, but they say it is "self-discrimination" on the part of the inmates.

"Many of these men, both white and Negro, come from southern states whose cultural patterns, learned long before the men entered this institution" account for segregated housing in the prison, according to M. C. Koblenz, Ohio Corrections Division chief.

Koblenz and Warden Ernie L. Maxwell met Thursday with a delegation from the Akron chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and denied any attempt at inferior treatment for Negroes.

The NAACP group, headed by Akron attorney Edwin Parms, conferred with the officials in regard to recently published stories that Negroes are made to march at the rear of inmate lines, sit at the rear of the theater and dining halls, and live in segregated housing.

Koblenz said he told the Akron delegation that the penitentiary has programmed all its services and activities "to all inmates regardless of race, color or creed."

He did concede there are situations of "self-discrimination" over which the prison has no control.

There is segregation in the 408 four-man cells and 168 two-man cells at the penitentiary, Koblenz admitted, but he offered the "cultural patterns" explanation and "the problems of administering an overcrowded institution with limited housing facilities."

"We cannot redo in a short period of time what society has failed to do over a long period of time," he said.

Parms disagreed that it isn't feasible to house Negroes and whites in the same cell.

Maxwell and Koblenz said seating arrangements in the theater and in dining halls are up to the convicts.

"We don't tell them where to sit. If they are segregated, it is because of their own self-discrimination," the warden said.

The officials said it is true that in the past prisoners had been segregated for marching purposes, but Maxwell said lines now are formed on the basis of height.

Koblenz predicted more progress under the current state prison expansion program in which the old downtown penitentiary here will be phased out in favor of more modern institutions.

Parms said after the meeting there are "definite areas of disagreement" between his group and prison officials. He said he planned to ask the state NAACP to investigate further.

Stamp Society Concludes Bizarre Deal with Forger

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Officials of the American Philatelic Society claim they have canceled an international stamp forgery operation by buying an elderly Mexican's "complete holdings" of original drawings, engraving plates, correspondence and sales records.

Segregation in Ohio Pen Is Self-Imposed by Men

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There is racial segregation in Ohio Penitentiary, prison officials grant, but they say it is "self-discrimination" on the part of the inmates.

"Many of these men, both white and Negro, come from southern states whose cultural patterns, learned long before the men entered this institution" account for segregated housing in the prison, according to M. C. Koblenz, Ohio Corrections Division chief.

Koblenz and Warden Ernie L. Maxwell met Thursday with a delegation from the Akron chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and denied any attempt at inferior treatment for Negroes.

The NAACP group, headed by Akron attorney Edwin Parms, conferred with the officials in regard to recently published stories that Negroes are made to march at the rear of inmate lines, sit at the rear of the theater and dining halls, and live in segregated housing.

Koblenz said he told the Akron delegation that the penitentiary has programmed all its services and activities "to all inmates regardless of race, color or creed."

He did concede there are situations of "self-discrimination" over which the prison has no control.

There is segregation in the 408 four-man cells and 168 two-man cells at the penitentiary, Koblenz admitted, but he offered the "cultural patterns" explanation and "the problems of administering an overcrowded institution with limited housing facilities."

"We cannot redo in a short period of time what society has failed to do over a long period of time," he said.

Parms disagreed that it isn't feasible to house Negroes and whites in the same cell. Maxwell and Koblenz said seating arrangements in the theater and in dining halls are up to the convicts.

"We don't tell them where to sit. If they are segregated, it is because of their own self-discrimination," the warden said.

The officials said it is true that in the past prisoners had been segregated for marching purposes, but Maxwell said lines now are formed on the basis of height.

Koblenz predicted more progress under the current state prison expansion program in which the old downtown penitentiary here will be phased out in favor of more modern institutions.

Parms said after the meeting there are "definite areas of disagreement" between his group and prison officials. He said he planned to ask the state NAACP to investigate further.

Red Defections Grow

For the first time since the Viet Nam War began, desertions from the Vietcong ranks are running proportionately higher than those from Saigon forces. Indicating a deteriorating morale problem for the Vietcong — not to mention the logistical problems — the desertion increase is the first solid indication of weakness in enemy forces.

So far, there is no proof the 90,000 estimated enemy desertions in the first 11 months of 1966 seriously crimped his activities. But with a force of about 280,000 in South Vietnam, the loss of one of every three men to desertion must inevitably create some serious problems for the invaders.

Judged by the numbers of desertions, the Vietnam War would seem to be one of the most unpopular conflicts with both sides in history. In 1965, government desertions reached 113,000 of a total strength of 571,000. No figures have been compiled for 1966, but government sources indicate they expect the total to be smaller, though troop strength has increased to 617,000.

It is interesting that deserters from both sides usually give the same reasons; the war has lasted too long, a man's place is at home with his family, and non-promotion. But a difference has been noted in the last year in Vietcong defections to government forces. Frequently, the reasons include disenchantment with unfulfilled promises of the Vietcong, and fear of American artillery and air bombardment.

Another trend has been evident among Vietcong defections in recent months which in time will give Hanoi real organizational headaches. A growing percentage of the deserters are the more experienced members of Vietcong units and civilian cadres. The percentage of deserters from main troop units who had served the Vietcong more than one year rose from 35 per cent a year ago to 80 per cent recently.

Replacing such large numbers of deserters — particularly the more experienced — is a handicap already showing up in less frequent major offenses by the enemy. It is a weakness which may prove decisive in the war.

Warning from Congressmen

Considering some of the foreign policy decisions which have been made by United States officials over the years, it seems a bit strange that no one has ever brought suit against government functionaries with the object of blocking action in the field of foreign affairs.

That record may soon be broken. Rep. Paul Findley, Illinois Republican, is threatening to request a court injunction to stop the State Department from selling what to Communist Yugoslavia on easy credit. The reason for the suit is simple.

Congress, in the closing days of the last session, added to an agriculture appropriations bill a ban on the extension of subsidized credit — under the Food for Peace program — to any nation trading, or permitting trade, with North Vietnam.

Yugoslavia continues to trade with North Vietnam, but the State Department is going right ahead with plans for subsidized wheat sales to Tito's government. As the man almost solely responsible for congressional enactment of the ban on enemy trading, Rep. Findley now regards it as his responsibility to force the State Department to obey the mandate of Congress.

"I am not opposed to the encouragement of certain East-West trade," Findley explained. "But this proposed extension of long-term subsidized credit would clearly be in violation of the trading - with - Hanoi amendment we passed."

"And what is the court for, if not to prevent violations of law — by the federal government or anyone else. That's why it looks like I'll file suit. I don't see any other way open."

Increasingly in recent years, the executive branch has exhibited a willingness to conduct the nation's affairs independently of congressional approval. Before this trend goes further, it is appropriate that a judicial referee attempt to return the federal branches to the meaningful check and balance system which in the past prevented domination of all by one.

ates of deposit or bonds also are held to 5 per cent.

So competitive have the thrift institutions become again, however, that you can hardly recognize these ceilings. Rates quoted in advertisements range all the way to 6.85 per cent — and its perfectly legal.

These rates are the result of compound interests, which amounts to interest today on the interest you earned yesterday. Once it was computed quarterly. Electronic computers now enable daily compounding.

Five rates are now commonly quoted: 5 per cent, 5.25, 5.39, 6.50 and 6.85.

The highest annual rate is the 5.25 per cent permitted the savings and loans. Compounded daily and with the account maintained for one year, this rate then turns out to be 5.39 per cent.

The length of time the money is left in the institution becomes all-important.

A 5 per cent annual rate, compounded daily over a 10-year period, averages 6.50 per cent. A sum of money earning 5 per cent compounded daily over 12 years earns an average of 6.85 per cent.

Generally, you may withdraw your money after a short period of time but then you'll earn only the lower rates. To really take advantage of the high rates you see advertised you must leave your money on deposit for more than a year.

Try and Stop Me

A STRANGE thing happened at an exclusive Pall Mall gentlemen's club in London recently. A drunken unknown actually outwitted the doorman and reeled into the lounge.

Seizing the doorman by the lapel, he demanded, "Give me a shave and a haircut." "The blighter thinks this is a blooming barber shop," cried the secretary, with which the unknown was thrown out on his ear.

How he did it he had to explain, but he gained readmittance. "I said I wanted a shave and a haircut," he proclaimed, "and let's have no more nonsense about it." This time four members joined forces to pitch him all the way downstairs. He picked himself up gingerly and called to the retreating members, "All right, gentlemen, but if you change your minds . . ."

After receiving no less than five urgent requests for contributions "because of an emergency" from the same badly managed home for something or other, an exasperated donor wrote the chairman, "I'll have to ask you to remove my name from your sucker list."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Genetic counseling is a new idea which soon will be written and spoken about with greater frequency.

Vast amounts of information is now accumulating about genes, chromosomes and heredity. It is hoped that by the study of the genes, possibly before marriage, some people may be guided against the possibility of passing on to their children birth abnormalities and serious chronic disorders.

At the Duke University School of Medicine, Dr. Alexander Spock found a special protein in the blood of a child with cystic fibrosis. The same protein was found in the child's parents.

Out of this finding came the thought that there might be a way to tag and identify cystic fibrosis carriers. If this is definitely known, marriage and a general counseling might spare many heartbreaks of inherited conditions both for the child and for the parents.

Research scientists everywhere are working on many phases of medicine that may eventually further such counseling programs.

It is hoped that well-known hereditary diseases like asthma, Buerger's disease, diabetes and others may be prevented by a greater knowledge of the parents' "carrier" potential.

It is the eventual prime aim that genetic counseling will be the very first step in true preventive medicine.

Masheter Submits Annual Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Highway Director P. E. Masheter submitted his annual report to Gov. James A. Rhodes Friday, listing $445.7 million in construction contracts placed in 1966.

Masheter said included were 52 interstate highway projects totaling 123 miles at a cost of $212.2 million and 18 major thoroughfare projects totaling 89.6 miles and financed with $69.5 million from the 1964 highway bond issue.

The curious thing about this is that all savings institutions are tightly regulated. Any California savings and loan, for example, can offer what its competitor is offering — but no more.

As a result, the inducements offered in advertisements and the prods applied to encourage deposits go off in curious directions.

Stability and even sincerity of the institutions, the opportunity to make your heirs millionaires, your responsibility to your grandchildren, your chance to pick up a free electric blanket or other premium.

Competition wasn't nearly so interesting last year. Interest rates were rising throughout the country and the savings and loans found they couldn't compete. Money drained from their vaults.

In September, however, federal agencies put a lid on what the various institutions could offer in interest. The savings and loans generally improved their competitive position under these regulations.

Most associations now are permitted to pay at least 4.75 per cent on passbook savings accounts, although some are allowed to go to 5 per cent. In California, Nevada and Alaska, however, 5.25 per cent is permitted.

By comparison, mutual savings banks are permitted to pay no more than 5 per cent. And banks that sell small certificates of deposit or bonds also are held to 5 per cent.

So competitive have the thrift institutions become again, however, that you can hardly recognize these ceilings. Rates quoted in advertisements range all the way to 6.85 per cent — and its perfectly legal.

These rates are the result of compound interests, which amounts to interest today on the interest you earned yesterday. Once it was computed quarterly. Electronic computers now enable daily compounding.

Five rates are now commonly quoted: 5 per cent, 5.25, 5.39, 6.50 and 6.85. The highest annual rate is the 5.25 per cent permitted the savings and loans. Compounded daily and with the account maintained for one year, this rate then turns out to be 5.39 per cent.

The length of time the money is left in the institution becomes all-important. A 5 per cent annual rate, compounded daily over a 10-year period, averages 6.50 per cent. A sum of money earning 5 per cent compounded daily over 12 years earns an average of 6.85 per cent.

Generally, you may withdraw your money after a short period of time but then you'll earn only the lower rates. To really take advantage of the high rates you see advertised you must leave your money on deposit for more than a year.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A STRANGE thing happened at an exclusive Pall Mall gentlemen's club in London recently. A drunken unknown actually outwitted the doorman and reeled into the lounge. Seizing the doorman by the lapel, he demanded, "Give me a shave and a haircut." "The blighter thinks this is a blooming barber shop," cried the secretary, with which the unknown was thrown out on his ear.

How he did it is hard to explain, but he gained readmittance. "I said I wanted a shave and a haircut," he proclaimed, "and let's have no more nonsense about it." This time four members joined forces to pitch him all the way downstairs. He picked himself up gingerly and called to the retreating members, "All right, gentlemen, but if you change your minds . . ."

After receiving no less than five urgent requests for contributions "because of an emergency" the same badly managed home for something or other, an exasperated donor wrote the chairman, "I'll have to ask you to remove my name from your succor list."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Genetic counseling is a new idea which soon will be written and spoken about with greater frequency.

Vast amounts of information is now accumulating about genes, chromosomes and heredity. It is hoped that by the study of the genes, possibly before marriage, some people may be guided against the possibility of passing on to their children birth abnormalities and serious chronic disorders.

At the Duke University School of Medicine, Dr. Alexander Spock found a special protein in the blood of a child with cystic fibrosis. The same protein was found in the child's parents.

Out of this finding came the thought that there might be a way to tag and identify cystic fibrosis carriers. If this is definitely known, marriage and general counseling might spare many heartbreaks of inherited conditions both for the child and for the parents.

Research scientists everywhere are working on many phases of medicine that may eventually further such counseling programs.

It is hoped that well-known hereditary diseases like asthma, Buerger's disease, diabetes and others may be prevented by a greater knowledge of the parents' "carrier" potential.

It is the eventual prime aim that genetic counseling will be the very first step in true preventive medicine.

Patients with high blood pressure so severe that it threatens their lives have benefited from a new "crash" program to lower the pressure.

Dr. Frank A. Fennerty, Jr., and his associates at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., have been gratified by the results of their concentrated attack on high blood pressure (Hypertension).

Sixteen patients were kept in the hospital on a regime of daily injections to lower the blood pressure.

The reaction was most gratifying. Severely sick patients with heart and kidney complications benefited markedly from this treatment of their high blood

Those Were the Days!

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "Ya wanna buy a duck" mumbled the man on the next bar stool.

"I beg your pardon?"
"Ya wanna buy a duck?"
"Be glad to buy you a drink," I said.

"Not drink, Duck!" he said. "That was Joe Penner's line. Ya wanna buy a duck." I ordered anyway — for both of us.

"You're like the rest of them," the man said, ungratefully. "You don't know who Joe Penner was. You probably don't remember Mary Noble, Backstage Wife, who was on right after Young Widdie Brown and right ahead of Stella Dallas." "They do sound familiar," I said. "Old radio programs, right? Haven't heard about them for years."

"Two years," he said. "Two years ago everybody was talking about them. Couldn't go to a party without someone looking off into space and sighing 'I used to crawl under the covers at night — so my mother wouldn't know I was still awake — to listen to Inner Sanctum which was on at 11 o'clock.'"

I nodded.

"Me, I wasn't that kind of kid," he went on. "I never played sick and stayed home to bone up on Portia Faces Life whose husband Walter was no good and who'd have all those mysterious illnesses that laid him up in the hospital for months while everybody sat at his bedside and talked about him."

"Listen to this," he said: "Can this little girl from a mining town in Colorado win happiness as the wife of England's richest and most handsome lord — Lord Henry Brinthrope?"

"And that was — 'I said, a la Fred Allen."

"That was the opening of Our Gal Sunday whose family home was called Black Swan Hall and who had a no-good brother coming in and lousing things up."

There was no stopping him. "Francis X. Bushman in Drums on Sunday Afternoon, took place in India and the natives always were restless. Harry Horlick and the AP gypsies. Phil Spitalny and his all-girl orchestra with Evelyn and her magic violin. Eddie Cantor singing I Love To Spend Each Sunday With You. The Fitch Bandwagon, use your head, save your hair. Hans Conried. Jim Backus and Ray Collins in soap operas. Mary Martin who came on to the strains of Clair de Lune and was a lady congressman."

He went on in a bitter blur. "You must be the hit of every party," I said, "with a memory like that."

"Not so," he said. "Two years ago when everybody was talking nostalgic trivia I was out of the swim. So I boned up. Read books, bought records, listened to rebroadcasts at 3 in the morning. Went to the library and ruined my eyes on microfilms of old newspapers."

"So, now that I'm up on these things nobody talks about them any more. Now they're talking about Uncle Miltie, your Show of Shows and Matinee Theater." "I know those," I said. "Ah, the good old days of television!"

Masheter Submits Annual Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Highway Director P. E. Masheter submitted his annual report to Gov. James A. Rhodes Friday, listing $445.7 million in construction contracts placed in 1966.

Masheter said included were 52 interstate highway projects totaling 123 miles at a cost of $212.2 million and 18 major thoroughfare projects totaling 89.6 miles and financed with $69.5 million from the 1964 highway bond issue.

A FIGHT may erupt in the new Congress over seating of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (right). Rep. Lionel Van Deerin (lower left), D-Calif., charges Powell should be denied his seat if he has not purged himself of court orders against him in New York. House Democratic Leader Carl Albert (middle) of Oklahoma would be involved in such a step.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is heading into his toughest year so far although 1967 doesn't promise to be a very exciting year by itself.
Yet, what happens in 1967 — and what happens to Johnson and what he makes happen — may determine whether he will seek re-election in 1968.
But events by themselves, unless Johnson makes some wretched mistakes in handling them, may not be the dominant factor in his decision to run again or in the Democrats' decision to make him their candidate again.
A very important factor and perhaps the most important one in the end — although hardly anything is being said about it now — is the kind of candidate the Republicans pick for their nominee in 1968.
It was extremely important when President Harry S. Truman ran against New York's Thomas E. Dewey and beat him in 1948.

Like Johnson after the death of President John F. Kennedy, when Truman took over after the death of President Franklin
D. Roosevelt in 1945, he rocked along on a great tide of sympathy and goodwill for a while.

Gradually, his troubles piled up. The cold war began and at home, as a result of the war, there were shortages in food and housing. As his troubles multiplied, his popularity went down. Price controls became a national irritant. As they gradually fell apart, inflation roared through the roof.

And this was the result: In the off-year elections of 1946 the Republicans for the first time since 1928 gained control of both House and Senate. His troubles with the Republican-run Congress became so intense that they evoked new sympathy for Truman, although not much, it seemed.

So, when the Democrats nominated him for a full term in 1948, they did so without much enthusiasm. Against Dewey he looked like a sure loser right up until half-way through election night.

Then came his truly tremendous and troublesome years:
The creation of NATO, the Korean War, the assault by Sen.
Joseph R. McCarthy. But if his standing with the electorate seemed low, it was anything but that with historians.

In 1962, ten years after he left the White House, a poll of 75 historians placed him among the near great among the presidents with the reservation that future historians might well list him with the great ones.

The popularity of Johnson's new presidency sailed through.
1964, climaxed by an overwhelming victory over his Republican challenger, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who unwittingly aided and abetted Johnson's victory by being way out of step with his times, as the voters showed.
Then, in 1965, with the help of his Democratic-run Congress,
Johnson reached new heights:
He got through the greatest batch of major legislation in one year in American history.
Nevertheless, it was in 1965 that Johnson began to undermine his own popularity by the firm, strong stand he took in putting the United States up to its neck in the war in Vietnam.

But it wasn't until 1966 that the edge of his popularity wore off and the public opinion polls continually showed his prestige with the people going down.

It was in the off-year elections of 1966 — just as in the case of Truman in 1948 — that the popularity of Johnson's leadership landed in the basement. The Republicans, while not regaining control of Congress, won enough seats to cut down Democratic control.

Even within his own party,
particularly among governors,
Johnson's leadership was attacked. And Congress in 1967 may spend more time examining some of the Johnson programs already on the books than in approving new ones.

Therefore, this does not look like a very creative year in Congress. But it is in this year, with the Vietnamese war continuing, that Johnson must start rebuilding his political future if he hopes for the presidency again.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support.
Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Kathy prays I can almost hear angel wings flutter. Her simple conversations with God are so full of trust and confidence, I feel as though I am standing at the doorstep of heaven.

After prayers, I tuck her into bed, turn out the light and go downstairs. And I find myself continuing the conversation she has started. My prayer is always the same . . . that as she grows, and her needs and wishes change, my little girl will continue to develop her understanding and love of God.

How grateful I am for my church. It has been a constant source of inspiration for my own religious growth. I know it will be ready to help me answer Kathy's questions. It is wonderful to know that I do not have to tackle the religious education of my daughter alone.

Attend your church. Let it help you as you guide your child's religious thinking.

AGAINST IT

DEAR AGAINST: Yes. She was wrong for having violated a "rule" she agreed to accept. But you were wrong for having made such a rule in the first place. Why offer your daughter a roof over her head and then raise it just because she wants to entertain her friends at home?

Where else would a respectable woman entertain? Either change that rule, mother, or tell daughter to change her address. You'll both be much happier.

Logan Elm Edges Wildcats In Thrilling Twin Overtime

Logan Elm and visiting Laurelville gave cage fans from the two neighboring communities enough thrills and exciting action to last a long while in a 64-62 double overtime battle won by the Braves Friday.

To gain the win, Logan Elm had to come from behind three times as the determined bunch of Wildcats played their hearts out in a losing effort.

The hero of the game was Russ Merrin, slender 6-3 brother of Coach Keith Merrin of Logan Elm.

Merrin, who notched high scoring laurels with 25 points, sent the game into the first overtime by lofting the ball over his head the distance of the court through the hoop to deadlock the score at 50-50. The buzzer sounded while the ball was in the air.

HE SENT the game into the second overtime, by zipping a shot from deep in his own left corner through the net, knotting the game at 58-58. Again, the buzzer sounded while the ball was in the air.

And with one second to go in the final overtime and the score tied at 62-62, he was fouled in the act of shooting.

By far the coolest person in the Logan Elm gymnasium, Merrin converted both shots to give the Braves their seventh win of the season and the 99th cage win in the school's history.

Spectacular as they were, Merrin's heroics were far from being the sole factor in the Scioto Valley Conference verdict.

Tom Smith scored 11 points in the game, six of them in the first quarter when the Braves were building a 13-7 lead. That first quarter, the fourth quarter and the final overtime, were the only periods in which the Braves were able to outscore the Wildcats.

At halftime, the visitors had narrowed the margin to four points, as Bob Bower scored six, Steve Hettinger four, Jeff Whitcraft, Mike Kneec and Gerald Disbennett two each. The tally was 25-21 as the teams went to the dressing rooms.

LAURELVILLE scored the first six points of the second half, and took the lead, 26-25, on a shot by Bower with 5:43 to go in the period. Merrin put Logan Elm ahead seconds later, but Bower again tallied and the Wildcats never trailed again until the final overtime.

At one point in the third quarter, the Wildcats built a nine point lead, 39-31.

There, they switched from their run and shoot offense to a stalling type of game, playing for the good shots and attempting to draw the Braves into fouling situations.

By the end of the third period, the score stood at 41-37, as the Braves managed to close the gap a little.

In the final period, Logan Elm could never quite manage to go ahead, as the foul line accuracy for Laurelville paid off. The first six points for the Wildcats came at the charity stripe.

With 1:22 to go in the fourth period, Merrin tipped in a bucket that knotted the score at 48-48.

Setting the stage for the tying score was a six point clutch performance in the fourth quarter by Gregg Fruanfelter.

FRAUNFELTER scored the first bucket for the Braves in the period, followed a basket by Smith with two of his own in less than a minute and pulled the Braves within three points. He injured his knee and had to leave the game with 2½ minutes to go.

Merrin scored the last six points for the Braves in the fourth quarter.

In the first overtime, the score was tied five times, including the final 58-58 count.

In the second overtime, Bower of Laurelville scored first, but Merrin had six chances at the foul line during the period and made good on all six.

Other scorers for Logan Elm included Ken Palmer with eight points and 10 rebounds; Jim Moorhead with five, Steve Fouch with six.

Pacing the Wildcat offense was little Steve Hettinger. Held to five points the first time the two teams clashed this year, Hettinger zipped 23 points through the nets last night. Bowers, a smooth, steady 6-3 junior center, tallied 15 markers for the losers. Jeff Whitcraft had eight, Mike Kneec six, Mike Chestnut two and Disbennett eight.

LAURELVILLE in the first half made nine of 36 attempts from the field, an average of 25 per cent. In the second half, they converted 11 of 21 shots. During the initial overtime, the Wildcats sank four of six tries and in the second overtime they sank two of three, finishing the game with an overall 39 per cent accuracy rate.

Logan Elm connected on 26 of 60 during the game for a 43 per cent accuracy rate.

At the foul line, Logan Elm hit 12 of 15 tries, an 80 per cent rate, while Laurelville made good on 14 of 21.

It was the first Scioto Valley Conference win for the Braves and the first loss in the conference for the Wildcats.

Tonight, Logan Elm and Coach Merrin will be seeking the 100th win at Southeastern of Ross County, a state finalist last year in tournament play. The Ross County quintet has all five starters back from last year's squad.

In the preliminary tilt, the Logan Elm reserves won 36-17, after holding a halftime lead of 12-11.

Danny Cooper scored 14 and Danny Fosnaugh 10 for the young Braves in the win.

Tigers Claw Indians, 73-57

WOULD YOU BELIEVE A MISS — Tim Stonerock was Circleville's leading scorer in the game last night, notching 31 markers. But he missed this shot, although he had both Hillsboro defenders beaten by a step.

By HERB AMEY The Circleville Tigers came from behind in the second half using a 1-2-2 zone, crushed Hillsboro, 73-57, and won their second league win Friday night.

It was the fourth win for the Tigers against five losses. In the loop they have 2 wins and three losses. Hillsboro stands 1-3 in the SCO League and 1-7 overall.

Circleville started the tilt playing a man-to-man defense. They remained close to the Indians, but could not take over the lead from the beginning.

Trace Extends Lead in SCO

Greenfield dropped into third place in the SCO basketball race and Miami Trace remained undefeated in the loop after action Friday night.

Wilmington, playing in the ancient Greenfield gym, used two overtime periods to edge the Tigers, 69-68. The Hurricane takes over second place with a 4-1 loop record. Greenfield retreated to 2-2.

Jim Kensinger of Greenfield almost sparked the Tigers to the win. As time ran out in the fourth period he tied the game. In the first overtime Kensinger again canned a field goal with only seconds remaining to keep Greenfield in the running.

But in the second OT, the Hurricane took over.

ROGER VAUGHAN popped in 27 points to lead the Hurricane. He is second in league scoring behind Circleville's Tim Stonerock.

A crowd of 2500 Fayette countians jammed into Miami Trace gymnasium to watch the Panthers smother Washington C. H., 63-45.

Trace jumped out to an early lead which the Lions couldn't overcome. In the third period they pulled within six points but Miami Trace began working the ball to their 6-6 Dave Bihl for easy points.

MUSTANG DEFENDERS — Ed Cornwell (31) and Tony Lightie get their hands in the action as they sandwich an Adena Warrior between them in a battle for a rebound. Delbert Haney (right) muscles Maurice Storts (45) out of the rebound battle.

Westfall's defensive minded Mustangs gained a 52-39 victory over visiting Adena High School of Ross County Friday.

It was the fourth win of the season for Westfall in ten starts. Other victories have come over class AA schools Hamilton Twp. and Washington C. H. and over Paint Valley in the Scioto Valley conference.

Last night the host school wasted no time in gaining a 10-3 first quarter lead.

Limiting Adena's Warriors to eight shots from the field in the first half, the Mustangs carried a 20-10 edge into the dressing room during the intermission.

THEY CAME back in the third quarter to outscore the visitors, 15-11, gaining a 35-21 lead. In the final period, the Mustangs put 17 points on the score board and Adena chalked up 18.

Andy Hamman was the leading scorer for Westfall, sinking seven buckets from the field and both of his chances at the foul line, for a total of 16 points.

With the Mustangs in early foul trouble in the game, Charlie Ward came off the bench, scored 10 points on two field goals and six foul shots and did a good defensive job for the winners.

Also credited with an excellent defensive performance in a reserve role by Coach Larry Wilson was Dennie Fletcher.

Charles Palmer sank three shots from the field and three from the foul line for nine markers. Rounding out the Westfall scoring were Tony Lightie with six, Ed Cornwell with five, Delbert Haney with four and Fletcher with two.

Haney fouled out of the tilt, and Palmer and Lightie both had four personals each.

THE MUSTANGS were charged with a total of 24 personals in the game.

The leading scorer for Adena was John Cory with 11. Randy Beverly notched 10 for the losers.

Paced by Bob Osterle with 11 and John Furniss with 10, the Westfall reserves won, 43-34. Both Osterle and Furniss had perfect nights at the foul line. The former hit seven of seven and the latter eight of eight.

Next action for Westfall comes Jan. 13 when a fast breaking Laurelville quintet invades the Mustang gymnasium.

Logan Elm Edges Wildcats In Thrilling Twin Overtime

Logan Elm and visiting Laurelville gave cage fans from the two neighboring communities enough thrills and exciting action to last a long while in a 64-62 double overtime battle won by the Braves Friday.

To gain the win, Logan Elm had to come from behind three times as the determined bunch of Wildcats played their hearts out in a losing effort.

The hero of the game was Russ Merrin, slender 6-3 brother of Coach Keith Merrin of Logan Elm.

Merrin, who notched high scoring laurels with 25 points, sent the game into the first overtime by looting the ball over his distance of the court through the hoop to deadlock the score at 50-50. The buzzer sounded while the ball was in the air.

HE SENT the game into the second overtime, by zipping a shot from deep in his own left corner through the net, knotting the game at 58-58. Again, the

And with one second to go in the final overtime and the score tied at 62-62, he was fouled in the act of shooting.

By far the coolest person in the Logan Elm gymnasium, Merrin converted both shots to give the Braves their seventh win of the season and the 99th cage win in the school's history.

Spectacular as they were, Merrin's heroics were far from being the sole factor in the Scioto Valley Conference verdict.

Tom Smith scored 11 points in the game, six of them in the first quarter when the Braves were building a 13-7 lead. That first quarter, the fourth quarter and the final overtime, were the only periods in which the Braves were able to outscore the Wildcats.

At halftime, the visitors had narrowed the margin to four points, as Bob Bower scored six, Steve Hettinger four Jeff Whitcraft, Mike Kneese and Gerald FRAUNFELTER scored the first bucket for the Braves in the period, followed a basket by Smith with two of his own in less than a minute and pulled the Braves within three points. He injured his knee and had to leave the game with 2 1/2 minutes to go.

Merrin scored the last six points for the Braves in the fourth quarter.

In the first overtime, the score was tied five times, including the final 58-58 count.

In the second overtime, Bower of Laurelville scored first, but Merrin had six chances at the foul line during the period and made good on all six.

Other scorers for Logan Elm included Ken Palmer with eight points and 10 rebounds; Jim Moorhead with five, Steve Fouch with six.

Pacing the Wildcat offense was little Steve Hettinger. Held to five points the first time the two teams clashed this year, Hettinger zipped 23 points through the nets last night. Bowers, a smooth, steady 6-3 junior center, tallied 15 markers for the losers. Jeff Whitcraft had eight, Mike Kneese six, Mike Chestnut two and Disbennett eight.

LAURELVILLE in the first half made nine of 36 attempts from the field, an average of 25 per cent. In the second half, they converted 11 of 21 shots. During the initial overtime, the Wildcats sank four of six tries and in the second overtime they sank two of three, finishing the game with an overall 39 per cent accuracy rate.

Logan Elm connected on 26 of 60 during the game for a 43 per cent accuracy rate.

At the foul line, Logan Elm hit 12 of 15 tries, an 80 per cent rate, while Laurelville made good on 14 of 21.

It was the first Scioto Valley Conference win for the Braves and the first loss in the conference for the Wildcats.

Tonight, Logan Elm and Coach Merrin will be seeking the 100th win at Southeastern of Ross County, a state finalist last year in tournament play.

In the preliminary tilt, the Logan Elm reserves won 36-17, after holding a halftime lead of 12-11.

Stonerock Scores 31 Points

Tigers Claw Indians, 73-57

WOULD YOU BELIEVE A MISS — Tim Stonerock was Circleville's leading scorer in the game last night, notching 31 markers. But he missed this shot, although he had both Hillsboro defenders beaten by a step.

By HERB AMEY

The Circleville Tigers came from behind in the second half using a 1-2-2 zone, crushed Hillsboro, 73-57, and won their second league win Friday night.

It was the fourth win for the Tigers against five losses. In the loop they have 2 wins and three losses. Hillsboro stands 1-3 in the SCO League and 1-7 overall.

Circleville started the tilt playing a man-to-man defense. They remained close to the Indians, but could not take over the lead from the beginning.

The first period ended with Hillsboro in front, 20-11. Jeff Steele had made eight of the Tigers' points. After the second eight-minute period, the Tigers were down, 33-27.

OF 31 FIELD goal attempts in the first half, the Tigers hit on only 10. They made seven of nine free throws for 27 markers.

Hillsboro shot 23 times in the half and connected on 15. From the line they made three of four.

Starting the second half Coach Chuck Hill switched his Tigers from the man-to-man to a 1-2-2 zone defense. The strategy worked as Hillsboro was limited to 10 shots in the third period. They hit on three and added one free throw for seven points.

The Tigers, starting strong on four quick buckets — three by Stonerock and one by Steele — and never faltering, repeatedly stole the ball from the Indians converting two-point plays.

Starting the final period, Circleville was in front, 52-40.

The Tigers would have run away with the game in the final except for the sure shooting of Tim McCarley. The six-foot senior guard canned six straight field goals in the quarter from the right of the circle.

BUT FREE throws by the Tigers along with clutch shots by Stonerock kept Circleville up and they won, 73-57.

Stonerock was game - high scorer. He attempted 23 field goals, making 12 and 11 free throws, making seven for 31 points. He made only nine points in the first half in a slow start. His total was second high for the season. Against Grandview he tallied 32.

McCarley of Hillsboro had 28 points. He shot 19 times and

Trace Extends Lead in SCO

Greenfield dropped into third place in the SCO basketball race and Miami Trace remained undefeated in the loop after action Friday night.

Wilmington, playing in the ancient Greenfield gym, used two overtime periods to edge the Tigers, 69-68. The Hurricane takes over second place with a 1-1 loop record. Greenfield retreated to 2-2.

Jim Kensinger of Greenfield almost sparked the Tigers to the win. As time ran out in the fourth period he tied the game. In the first overtime Kensinger again canned a field goal with only seconds remaining to keep Greenfield in the running.

But in the second OT, the Hurricane took over.

ROGER VAUGHAN popped in 27 points to lead the Hurricane. He is second in league scoring behind Circleville's Tim Stonerock.

A crowd of 2500 Fayette countians jammed into Miami Trace gymnasium to watch the Panthers smother Washington C. H., 63-45.

Trace jumped out to an early lead which the Lions couldn't overcome. In the third period they pulled within six points but Miami Trace began working the ball to their 6-6 Dave Bihl for easy points.

Bihl ended up game-high scorer with 15 points.

Next Friday Wilmington is at Circleville, Greenfield at Washington C. H. and Miami Trace at Hillsboro.

Referee: Emswiler, Cameron

LAURELVILLE scored the first six points of the second half, and took the lead, 26-25, on a shot by Bower with 5:43 to go in the period. Merrin put Logan Elm ahead seconds later, but Bower again tallied and the Wildcats never trailed again until the final overtime.

At one point in the third quarter, the Wildcats built a nine point lead, 39-31.

There, they switched from their run and shoot offense to a stalling type of game, playing for the good shots and attempting to draw the Braves into fouling situations.

By the end of the third period, the score stood at 41-37, as the Braves managed to close the gap a little.

In the final period, Logan Elm could never quite manage to go ahead, as the foul line accuracy for Laurelville paid off. The first six points for the Wildcats came at the charity stripe.

With 1:22 to go in the fourth period, Merrin tipped in a bucket that knotted the score at 48-48.

Setting the stage for the tying score was a six point clutch performance in the fourth quarter by Gregg Fruanfelder.

Thomforde Paces Princeton's Surge Toward National Fame

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Al Alcindor who has led top-ranked UCLA to eight straight victories isn't the only former New York City youth making good in college basketball. There's Chris Thomforde of Princeton, who is helping bring back some of the glory days of the Bill Bradley era to the Nassau Tigers.

Alcindor and Thomforde both are 19-year-old sophomores, but there's a difference. Alcindor is 7-foot-1. Thomforde 6-foot-9.

Princeton, rapidly forging to the fore nationally, made it 10 victories in 11 starts by crushing Brown 94-50 Friday night at home in their Ivy League opener. Thomforde sat out 15 minutes but still paced the Tigers with 24 points.

With big Chris gladdening the heart of Coach Bill van Breda

Kolff, Princeton reeled off eight straight victories before losing to second-ranked Louisville 72-63 in the final of the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia.

The Tigers bounced right back last Monday and knocked third-ranked North Carolina out of the unbeaten ranks 91-81. That was on the road, too.

Texas Western, the defending national champion, was the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action. The sixth-ranked Miners crushed Southern Mississippi 84-54 at El Paso, Tex., led by David Lattin's 24 points.

Oregon State opened defense of its Pacific-8 crown by upsetting California 45-42 at home on Vince Fritz' layup with 13 seconds left. Stanford, also playing at home, edged Oregon 68-65 behind Don Griffin's 23 points, while Brigham Young crushed Utah State at Provo 92-66. Big 6-foot-11 Craig Raymond led the Cougars with 35 points.

Yale made its record 3-0 in Ivy League play by beating Penn 86-74 at Philadelphia while Columbia downed Harvard 80-71 in New York and Cornell whipped Dartmouth 69-57 at Ithaca, N.Y.

William Mary scored an 85-74 road victory over George Washington, while at Blacksburg, Va., Virginia Tech snapped the 15-game winning streak of the AAU Phillips Oilers 67-60.

On the road Idaho beat Montana 82-79, Gonzaga downed Montana State 80-71 in overtime and Miami of Florida defeated Jacksonville 75-71. New Mexico State humbled Hardin Simmons 69-51 at home.

UNCLE TOM'S GABBIN'—A meeting between Ernie Terrell (left), the WBA heavy champ, and Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali), the world's king, in New York almost erupted into fistbuffs when Clay berated Terrell for not calling him Muhammad Ali instead of Cassius Clay and referred to him as an "Uncle Tom Negro." The two met in Houston Feb. 6 and opinion was divided among newsmen whether this was the first pitch in publicity for the event or the real thing.

Success Story in Reverse

Death Claims Johnny Keane

By WILL GRIMSLEY

HOUSTON (AP) — Johnny Keane, the gentlemanly little manager who suffered through one of baseball's most tragic success stories in reverse, is dead.

A massive heart attack at his home here Friday night claimed the mild, cigar-chomping perfectionist who won the world championship with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1964, only to be fired 18 months later by the New York Yankees when the American League club plunged to the cellar.

He was 55. He had spent more than half his life — 30 years — building a dream with the Cardinal chain.

When death came to him suddenly, he held the obscure position of special scout with the California Angels.

The baseball world was shocked and saddened. Keane, renowned as a good organizer, an astute manager and a person of extremely high principles, was universally respected and admired.

Bob Fishel, chief publicist for the Yankees, probably expressed the sentiments of most baseball personalities when he said:

'Good Show' Comes First, Graham Says

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Joining the pro coaching ranks hasn't brought out a killer instinct in Otto Graham.

"Winning still isn't everything to me," said Graham, who took over as coach of the Washington Redskins a year ago after seven relaxed years at the Coast Guard Academy.

"My philosophy has always been that you should put on a good show," he said, "although winning is important, too."

Graham, whose Redskins won half of their 14 games in his first try at coaching in the National Football League, said he would rather have an exciting year than a dull, winning season.

"I would rather lose a close, exciting ball game than win every game 3-0," said Graham, who added that he is blessed with sophisticated fans at Washington.

"They don't demand that we win all the time, but they like good, exciting football," Graham said before today's Senior Bowl in which he was coach of the South All Stars.

Graham, lured from the quiet life of Coast Guard coach by a big salary and a long contract at Washington, said he coaches his Redskins just about like he did his academy boys.

WINNIPEG (AP) — Canada rebounded from a two-goal deficit in the second period and beat world champion Russia 5-4 Friday night to win the centennial hockey tournament.

North Wins Hula Bowl

Griese-Williams Combo Explodes

HONOLULU (AP) — Two touchdown bombs from Bob Griese of Purdue to Dave Williams of Washington in less than a minute of the fourth quarter provided the margin in a 28-27 victory for the North over the South Friday night in the annual Hula Bowl game.

With his team trailing 21-16, Griese hit Williams for a 43-yard touchdown. Fifty-five seconds later, the same combination clicked for a 40-yard touchdown.

Williams was named outstanding lineman of the game.

Elusive Charlie Brown of Missouri who ran for 111 yards, making two touchdowns for the South, was named the outstanding back, even in a losing cause.

Fifty of the country's outstanding college players were on hand for the game, played before a capacity 23,500 crowd and at least a dozen professional coaches and scouts.

The first half was lackadaisical, but the two teams got into the spirit of the thing in the second half and hit for keeps.

Brown provided a running game for the South, but the North team had little ground gained except for a 79-yard burst around left end by Clint Jones of Michigan State for the first touchdown of the game.

Otherwise it was all Griese's passing. He hit for 14 of 21 and 279 yards, and also kicked a field goal.

13 Records Seen in Danger As Indoor Track Meet Opens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's 1967 indoor track and field season opens tonight at the Cow Palace with the All-American Indoor Games, and Met Director Jim Terrill sees three indoor records and 19 stadium marks in danger.

Randy Matson of Texas A.M., owner of the shot put world record of 70 feet 7 inches, could add the indoor mark by tossing farther than 64-11.

Bob Seagren of Southern California, who boosted his indoor pole vault record to 17-1 just last Dec. 30 in Canada, aims to increase that height.

Sprinter Charley Greene from Nebraska might nudge the record 5.9 seconds in the 60-yard dash. Last year at the Cow Palace, he stumbled slightly coming out of the blocks yet still was clocked in 6.0.

Matson, Seagren and Greene can't be considered cinch winners of their events despite their record potential.

Neal Steinhauer, the Oregon shot putter, generally is considered the world's second best and he could notch a new indoor mark.

Seagren faces Paul Wilson in a battle of University of Southern California pole vaulters, and each is expected to top the Cow Palace record of 16-7 1/4.

San Jose State's Tommie Smith poses the top threat to Greene although the Spartan speedster has been better at longer distances outdoors. The record 5.9 seconds in the 60-yard dash should foretell the finish. Should Smith get off fast, he could be the winner, but generally Green excels off the blocks.

College Baseball Coaches, Major Leagues Make Peace

HOUSTON (AP) — College baseball coaches and the major leagues were a step closer today toward ending their long hostility over the pros raiding the collegiate ranks for players.

John (Hi) Simmons, president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches said Friday an agreement was reached whereby collegians cannot be signed to a contract until after his senior year, except under certain conditions.

He said the agreement was reached last month at a meeting in Pittsburgh and was adopted by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues and the major leagues.

The National Football League and the American Football League has long agreed not to sign a college player until his eligibility has expired or, in the case of red shirts, until his class has graduated. A red shirt is a player who completes his three years of varsity football competition in five years.

The college baseball and track coaches met Friday and today in advance of the 61st convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association which begins Monday.

The baseball signing rule, effective last Jan. 1, provides no college player can be drafted and/or signed to a contract prior to the final game of his senior year.

Thomforde Paces Princeton's Surge Toward National Fame

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Big Lew Alcindor who has led top-ranked UCLA to eight straight victories isn't the only former New York City youth making good in college basketball. There's Chris Thomforde of Princeton, who is helping bring back some of the glory days of the Bill Bradley era to the Nassau Tigers.

Alcindor and Thomforde both are 19-year-old sophomores, but there's a difference. Alcindor is 7-foot-1, Thomforde 6-foot-9.

Princeton, rapidly forging to the fore nationally, made it 10 victories in 11 starts by crushing Brown 94-50 Friday night at home in their Ivy League opener. Thomforde sat out 15 minutes but still paced the Tigers with 24 points.

With big Chris gladdening the heart of Coach Bill van Breda

Kolff, Princeton reeled off eight straight victories before losing to second-ranked Louisville 72-63 in the final of the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia.

The Tigers bounced right back last Monday and knocked third-ranked North Carolina out of the unbeaten ranks 91-81. That was on the road, too.

Keane's widow, a daughter, Mrs. Pat Mastersen, and two grandsons, all of Houston, survive. Services will be held here Monday or Tuesday.

Venture in Haiti Most Inspiring To Local Couple

A local couple, back from a missionary-type venture in Haiti, can describe many memories relative to the trip. Spending almost a month in the tiny country were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McFarland of Route 1. Their purpose was to provide all kinds of assistance to the people of the small Caribbean country.

The McFarlands volunteered their services as part of their close association with the Circleville Prayer Circle, an organization affiliated with the Oriental Missionary Society and Men for Missions International. A local contractor, McFarland's primary objective was to help build a reservoir that would help offset a critical water need in one section of Haiti. However, approximately 32 inches of rain encountered during the stay prevented completion of the project.

DESPITE this heavy precipitation, the local man and volunteers like him were able to accomplish many other essential tasks.

Much of their inspiring work focused on erecting buildings and repairing or completing structures already under roof. Mrs. McFarland and other women assisted as needed.

The McFarlands left here for Haiti on Nov. 30 and returned two days before Christmas. Mrs. McFarland, at first a little dejected by being away from her family at the holiday period, soon got into the swing of things in the Latin environment. When the day came to depart for home, she wanted to stay longer.

When they left here in November, the local residents took with them a large quantity of clothing, dry foods and other items for distribution to needy Haitians. The articles were donated by citizens of this community.

The McFarlands also received considerable financial assistance to help make their missionary trip successful. Aiding their cause were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tracey of Circleville, the IMC Fertilizer Co. of Circleville, the local Appliance and Refrigeration Co., W. K. Roe Jr., of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Eckhardt of Columbus, Mrs. Everett Rippitt of Chillicothe, R. C. Triplehorn of Circleville, the Circleville Prayer Group and Dr. John Bowers. Numerous local persons offered food, clothing, agricultural fertilizer, seeds and other worthwhile goods. The McFarlands praised these people also.

IN FACT, so much food and other articles were collected the McFarlands were unable to take all of it in their car. They drove to Florida, then flew the remaining miles.

The surplus items left behind will be picked up by another Men for Missions volunteer group that will leave for Haiti in the near future. According to McFarland, another attempt to complete the water reservoir project will be made later this year when weather conditions become more suitable.

McFarland said he hopes to visit Haiti again, describing the country as one of the most deserving of all help that can be given. The only obstacle encountered this trip was the wet weather — and the nasty head cold he caught upon return to the U.S.A.

Dr. Sanguily Takes Part in Heart Study

Dr. Manuel Sanguily, local physician, was enrolled in the postgraduate course for physicians in Emergency Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation conducted Friday at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus.

The program, acceptable for six accredited hours by the American Academy of General Practice, is sponsored by Pickaway County Health Department, the Ohio State Heart Assn., Ohio Department of Health and Central Ohio Heart Assn.

John H. Kennedy, MD, assistant professor of thoracic surgery at Western Reserve University School of Medicine, and surgeon-in-charge, Thoracic Surgical Service, Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital, conducted the course.

Those attending took turns demonstrating the technique on a manikin ("Resusc-A-Ne") to the rest of the group. They also participated in lectures, film and slide presentations.

Police, Firemen Raised in Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Salaries of Cincinnati's 1,800 policemen and firemen were boosted $1,000 a year Thursday by the city council, which also granted raises to all other city employees.

This will bring the maximum yearly pay for patrolmen and firefighters to $7,921. Their starting pay is now $5,563. Firemen and policemen must be paid the same under the city charter.

Government

courts stayed or set aside both convictions.

Miss Coplon was convicted on indictments in Washington, in 1949, and in New York, in 1950, but the convictions were upset on the ground that the government had obtained evidence against her illegally. Wiretapping was involved in both cases and an illegal arrest played a key role in the New York reversal.

The government said that the evidence currently available in both cases was inadmissible in court, but the Justice Department did not explain why it waited until Friday to seek dismissal of the indictments.

Miss Coplon, was arrested in Manhattan March 4, 1949, with Valentin A. Gubitchev of the Soviet Union's United Nations staff. She was 27 years old then. Agents of the FBI had not obtained a warrant, and therefore documents taken from her at the time were seized illegally.

The wiretapping admitted by the FBI in the Washington case was the entire basis upon which Miss Coplon's conviction was upset. The Washington court did not reverse her conviction, but left it open pending a hearing to determine whether her telephone conversations with her lawyer before and during the trial had been tapped. The government, however, never asked for a hearing.

Gubitchev, who also was convicted in New York of conspiracy to commit espionage, had his sentence suspended when he agreed to return to the Soviet Union.

The trial court, however, admitted the documents into evidence, and this was one of the principal grounds for reversal of her conviction by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York.

In upsetting the conviction, however, the late Judge Learned Hand said that Miss Coplon's "guilt is plain." He therefore did not dismiss the indictment.

Tax Collections Up in County

Sales tax collections in Pickaway County for the first half of the current fiscal year show a 1.1 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Collections for the period from July 1, 1966 through Dec. 31, 1966, were $169,789.85, up $1,817.81 from 1965 collections.

Total collections for the state were increased five per cent to over $88 million.

Motor vehicle and house trailer sales and use taxes for the same six-month period were down nearly $10,000. Collections of $137,159.11 showed a drop of 6.6 per cent.

Resentment Is Growing Over Government Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The files of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee are bulging with complaints from servicemen and federal employees that they are coerced into buying savings bonds and making charitable contributions.

Letters from servicemen tell of being denied promotion and even of being threatened with shipment to Vietnam if they fail to buy bonds.

The subcommittee also has received reports of Marine sergeants being sent into the foxholes in Vietnam to sign up fighting men for bond purchases.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., subcommittee chairman, has introduced a bill that would, among other things, protect government employees against any form of compulsion to buy bonds or contribute to charity.

In a recent letter to Thomas D. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, Ervin wrote: "It is becoming glaringly apparent that legislation is needed to protect servicemen as much — or more so — as it is to protect civilian personnel."

Morris said the Defense Department not only does not authorize coercion of civilian and military personnel to buy savings bonds or contribute to charitable campaigns but has not and will not condone such coercion.

Ervin replied "the numerous complaints from civilian and military personnel throughout the world" indicate that the mere continuance of the Pentagon's support of established grievance procedures is insufficient.

The senator declined to submit to the Pentagon for investigation the names of persons who had complained to the subcommittee. "The risk of reprisals is not worth such an exercise in futility," Ervin wrote.

The senator's letter said that "a Marine general has been quoted as saying that his men in charge of the bond drive in Vietnam were not deterred from achieving the unit goal."

"They went to forward positions and interviewed Marines in fighting holes and kept track of the patrols so that every individual had an opportunity to hear how he could invest his money in a worthwhile savings program," he quoted the general as saying.

Ervin added: "I find this story grotesque."

The Treasury Department said 1,427,602 servicemen were enrolled in payroll savings plans — where bonds are automatically purchased and the price is deducted from pay — as of last Sept. 30.

It said the percentage of those enrolled, compared with total strength, varied widely among the services.

As of Sept. 30, the Army had 84 per cent enrollment with 765,133 active participants followed by the Air Force with 45.3 per cent or 392,542 participants.

The Navy and Marine Corps combined had 27.2 per cent participation, the department said, with 201,637 Navy personnel and 68,290 Marines taking part.

Of federal civilian employees, 73.8 per cent or 1,687,129 persons were enrolled in the payroll savings program as of Sept. 30, the department added.

During the first nine months of 1966, the department said, $648.1 million in bonds were bought by federal employees both civilian and military under payroll savings. Civilians bought $445.2 million and the military $202.9 million.

Allied Force

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported the Communists also shelled a nearby Vietnamese airbase early today apparently in a diversionary attack.

A spokesman said the Communists inflicted heavy casualties on a regional force platoon defending the Chu Hanh airfield near Holloway and killed four Vietnamese civilian dependents in a shelling of an Army Engineer camp nearby.

In another development, U. S. B-52 heavy bombers staged four raids Friday night and today in Binh Duong Province 25 to 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

U. S. headquarters said the targets were Viet Cong Troop concentrations, supply points, infiltration routes, base camps, storage areas and fortifications.

The delta operation, called Deckhouse Five, was launched from a U. S. Navy task force of 12 warships and was preceded by air strikes and naval gunfire.

U. S. headquarters reported no allied casualties at the end of the first day and one enemy killed.

North Vietnam's official Vietnam News Agency today accused the United States of bombing populated areas north of the demilitarized zone in air strikes Thursday and said a strong protest was filed with the International Control Commission.

The Communist news agency also said that a group of seven Japanese investigating alleged U.S. war crimes in North Vietnam have "clear confirmation" of U.S. attacks against civilians. The Japanese are members of the left-leaning Japan Committee for Investigation of U.S. War Crimes in Vietnam.

Is Hanoi . . .

points were the only basis of a settlement which the North Vietnamese government would consider.

One of the major points is that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front must speak for South Vietnam, meaning that the Communist program would have to be accepted for the future of the south.

Washington authorities also said that there seemed to be some hardening in the North Vietnamese position on the bombing — that whereas they have denounced past bombing pauses simply as constituting ultimatums since a pause meant the bombing would be resumed, now they are demanding an unconditional and permanent halt in the bombing.

U.S. officials said that the peace probing is continuing. They said there was no doubt that the bombing was proving extremely burdensome and most damaging to North Vietnam but they doubted that the situation had come to the point yet where the North Vietnamese were willing to get into serious peace negotiations.

In this connection they argued that it was very significant that North Vietnam had rejected this week a proposal by Britain for discussions on ending the war, and they reported that efforts by U. N. Secretary-General U. Thant and other world figures had, so far as they knew, failed to produce any hard facts demonstrating a Hanoi interest in ending the conflict.

At the same time optimism persists in official quarters here that this year, and possibly the early months of this year, will bring a decisive turning point in the struggle.

This is based on calculations that Communist forces in the south are constantly suffering severe losses and that the bombing in the north is putting heavy pressure on North Vietnam eventually to find a way out.

Venture in Haiti Most Inspiring To Local Couple

A local couple, back from a missionary-type venture in Haiti, can describe many memories relative to the trip.

Spending almost a month in the tiny country were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McFarland of Route 1. Their purpose was to provide all kinds of assistance to the people of the small Caribbean country.

The McFarlands volunteered their services as part of their close association with the Circleville Prayer Circle, an organization affiliated with the Oriental Missionary Society and Men for Missions International.

A local contractor, McFarland's primary objective was to help build a reservoir that would help offset a critical water need in one section of Haiti. However, approximately 32 inches of rain encountered during the stay prevented completion of the project.

DESPITE this heavy precipitation, the local man and volunteers like him were able to accomplish many other essential tasks.

Much of their inspiring work focused on erecting buildings and repairing or completing structures already under roof. Mrs. McFarland and other women assisted as needed.

The McFarlands left here for Haiti on Nov. 30 and returned two days before Christmas. Mrs. McFarland, at first a little dejected by being away from her family at the holiday period, soon got into the swing of things in the Latin environment. When the day came to depart for home, she wanted to stay longer.

When they left here in November, the local residents took with them a large quantity of clothing, dry foods and other items for distribution to needy Haitians. The articles were donated by citizens of this community.

The McFarlands also received considerable financial assistance to help make their missionary trip successful. Aiding their cause were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tracey of Circleville, the IMC Fertilizer Co. of Circleville, the local Appliance and Refrigeration Co., W. K. Roe Jr., of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Eckhardt of Columbus,

Mr. Everett Rippitt of Chillicothe, R. C. Triplehorn of Circleville, the Circleville Prayer Group and Dr. John Bowers.

Numerous local persons offered food, clothing, agricultural fertilizer, seeds and other worthwhile goods. The McFarlands praised these people also.

IN FACT, so much food and other articles were collected the McFarlands were unable to take all of it in their car. They drove to Florida, then flew the remaining miles.

The surplus items left behind will be picked up by another Men for Missions volunteer group that will leave for Haiti in the near future.

According to McFarland, another attempt to complete the water reservoir project will be made later this year when weather conditions become more suitable.

McFarland said he hopes to visit Haiti again, describing the country as one of the most desiring of all help that can be given. The only obstacle encountered this trip was the wet weather — and the nasty head cold he caught upon return to the U.S.A.

Dr. Sanguily Takes Part in Heart Study

Dr. Manuel Sanguily, local physician, was enrolled in the postgraduate course for physicians in Emergency cardiac pulmonary resuscitation conducted Friday at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus.

The program, acceptable for six accredited hours by the American Academy of General Practice, is sponsored by Pickaway County Heart Assn., Pickaway County Health Department, the Ohio State Heart Assn., Ohio Department of Health and Central Ohio Heart Assn.

John H. Kennedy, MD, assistant professor of thoracic surgery at Western Reserve University School of Medicine, and surgeon-in-charge, Thoracic Surgical Service, Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital, conducted the course.

Those attending took turns demonstrating the technique on a manikin ("Resusc-A-Ne") to the rest of the group. They also participated in lectures, film and slide presentations.

Police, Firemen Raised in Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Salaries of Cincinnati's 1,800 policemen and firemen were boosted $1,000 a year Thursday by the city council, which also granted raises to all other city employees.

This will bring the maximum yearly pay for patrolmen and firefighters to $7,921. Their starting pay is now $5,965. Firemen and policemen must be paid the same under the city charter.

Government

courts stayed or set aside both convictions.

Miss Coplon was convicted on indictments in Washington, in 1949, and in New York, in 1950, but the convictions were upset on the ground that the government had obtained evidence against her illegally. Wiretapping was involved in both cases and an illegal arrest played a key role in the New York reversal.

The government said that the evidence currently available in both cases was inadmissible in court, but the Justice Department did not explain why it waited until Friday to seek dismissal of the indictments.

Miss Coplon, was arrested in Manhattan March 4, 1949, with Valentin A. Gubichev of the Soviet Union's United Nations staff. She was 27 years old then. Agents of the FBI had not obtained a warrant, and therefore documents taken from her at the time were seized illegally.

The wiretapping admitted by the FBI in the Washington case was the entire basis upon which Miss Coplon's conviction was upset. The Washington court did not reverse her conviction, but left it open pending a hearing to determine whether her telephone conversations with her lawyer before and during the trial there had been tapped. The government, however, never asked for a hearing.

Gubichev, who also was convicted in New York of conspiracy to commit espionage, had his sentence suspended when he agreed to return to the Soviet Union.

The trial court, however, admitted the documents into evidence, and this was one of the principal grounds for reversal of her conviction by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York.

In upsetting the conviction, however, the late Judge Learned Hand said that Miss Coplon's "guilt is plain." He therefore did not dismiss the indictment.

Tax Collections Up in County

Sales tax collections in Pickaway County for the first half of the current fiscal year show a 1.1 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Collections for the period from July 1, 1966 through Dec. 31, 1966, were $169,789.85, up $1,817.81 from 1965 collections. Total collections for the state were increased five per cent to over $88 million.

Motor vehicle and house trailer sales and use taxes for the same six-month period were down nearly $10,000. Collections of $137,139.11 showed a drop of 6.6 per cent.

Resentment Is Growing Over Government Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The files of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee are bulging with complaints from servicemen and federal employees that they are coerced into buying savings bonds and making charitable contributions.

Letters from servicemen tell of being denied promotion and even of being threatened with shipment to Vietnam if they fail to buy bonds.

The subcommittee also has received reports of Marine sergeants being sent into the foxholes in Vietnam to sign up fighting men for bond purchases.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., subcommittee chairman, has introduced a bill that would, among other things, protect government employees against any form of compulsion to buy bonds or contribute to charity.

In a recent letter to Thomas D. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, Ervin wrote: "It is becoming glaringly apparent that legislation is needed to protect servicemen as much — or more so — as it is to protect civilian personnel."

Morris said the Defense Department not only does not authorize coercion of civilian and military personnel to buy savings bonds or contribute to charitable campaigns but has not and will not condone such coercion.

Ervin replied "the numerous complaints from civilian and military personnel throughout the world" indicate that the mere continuance of the Pentagon's support of established grievance procedures is insufficient.

The senator declined to submit to the Pentagon for investigation the names of persons who had complained to the subcommittee. "The risk of reprisals is not worth such an exercise in futility," Ervin wrote.

The senator's letter said that "a Marine general has been quoted as saying that his men in charge of the bond drive in Vietnam were not deterred from achieving the unit goal."

"They went to forward positions and interviewed Marines in fighting holes and kept track of the patrols so that every individual had an opportunity to hear how he could invest his money in a worthwhile savings program," he quoted the general as saying.

Ervin added: "I find this story grotesque." The Treasury Department said 1,427,692 servicemen were enrolled in payroll savings plans — where bonds are automatically purchased and the price is deducted from pay — as of last Sept. 30.

It said the percentage of those enrolled, compared with total strength, varied widely among the services.

As of Sept. 30, the Army had 84 per cent enrollment with 765,153 active participants followed by the Air Force with 45.3 per cent or 392,542 participants.

The Navy and Marine Corps combined had 27.2 per cent participation, the department said, with 291,637 Navy personnel and 68,290 Marines taking part.

Of federal civilian employees, 73.8 per cent or 1,687,129 persons were enrolled in the payroll savings program as of Sept. 30, the department added.

During the first nine months of 1966, the department said, $648.1 million in bonds were bought by federal employees both civilian and military under payroll savings. Civilians bought $445.2 million and the military $202.9 million.

Allied Force

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported the Communists also shelled a nearby Vietnamese airbase early today apparently in a diversionary attack.

A spokesman said the Communists inflicted heavy casualties on a regional force platoon defending the Chu Hanh airfield near Holloway and killed four Vietnamese civilian dependents in a shelling of an Army Engineer camp nearby.

In another development, U. S. B52 heavy bombers staged four raids Friday night and today in Binh Duong Province 25 to 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

U. S. headquarters said the targets were Viet Cong Troop concentrations, supply points, infiltration routes, base camps, storage areas and fortifications.

The delta operation, called Deckhouse Five, was launched from a U. S. Navy task force of 12 warships and was preceded by air strikes and naval gunfire.

U. S. headquarters reported no allied casualties at the end of the first day and one enemy killed.

North Vietnam's official Vietnam News Agency today accused the United States of bombing populated areas north of the demilitarized zone in air strikes Thursday and said a strong protest was filed with the International Control Commission.

The Communist news agency also said that a group of seven Japanese investigating alleged U. S. war crimes in North Vietnam have "clear confirmation" of U. S. attacks against civilians. The Japanese are members of the left-leaning Japan Committee for Investigation of U. S. War Crimes in Vietnam.

Is Hanoi . . .

points were the only basis of a settlement which the North Vietnamese government would consider.

One of the major points is that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front must speak for South Vietnam, meaning that the Communist program would have to be accepted for the future of the south.

Washington authorities also said that there seemed to be some hardening in the North Vietnamese position on the bombing — that whereas they have denounced past bombing pauses simply as constituting ultimatums since a pause meant the bombing would be resumed, now they are demanding an unconditional and permanent halt in the bombing.

U. S. officials said that the peace probing is continuing. They said there was no doubt that the bombing was proving extremely burdensome and most damaging to North Vietnam but they doubted that the situation had come to the point yet where the North Vietnamese were willing to get into serious peace negotiations.

In this connection they argued that it was very significant that North Vietnam had rejected this week a proposal by Britain for discussions on ending the war, and they reported that efforts by U. N. Secretary-General U Thant and other world figures had, so far as they knew, failed to produce any hard facts demonstrating a Hanoi interest in ending the conflict.

At the same time optimism persists in official quarters here that this year, and possibly the early months of this year, will bring a decisive turning point in the struggle.

This is based on calculations that Communist forces in the south are constantly suffering severe losses and that the bombing in the north is putting heavy pressure on North Vietnam eventually to find a way out.

AAUW Grants Are Offered For Graduate College Study

Circleville Branch of the American Assn. of University Women is seeking women 35 years of age and over who want to undertake full-time graduate study in college faculty careers. Candidates interested in applying for the tuition grant and personal stipends being offered by the AAUW must have teaching in a college or university as their goal.

The program is also designed to search for funds on the local level by the branch chapters of AAUW. Anyone wishing additional information or to be a part of the program may make gifts payable to the AAUW Educational Foundation, College Faculty Program or contact Mrs. David Gillespie at 474-6913. She is the chairman of the program for the Circleville chapter of AAUW.

The Ohio College Faculty Program follows the pattern so successfully established by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund in the three-year pilot program in eleven southeastern states. In that period 126 southern women were started on their faculty careers and are either continuing to study or are already teaching.

Applicants are invited to write for more information and application blanks to College Faculty Program, 2401 Virginia Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20037. Deadline to apply is February, 1967.

Romney Drive

The society reported some moderates already were considering "the fallback positions" of Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller should Romney falter in advance of the 1968 GOP National Convention.

Its account said California Gov. Ronald Reagan emerged from the conference as "a force to reckon with" at the next GOP convention.

The society's analysis said leaders of the party's conservative wing, which propelled Barry Goldwater to the 1964 nomination, were preparing to support former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, because of reluctance "to project Reagan onto the national scene prematurely."

"With Romney in the lead, albeit shakily, and with the lurking suspicion that Nixon is a 'loser,'" the society said, "the conservative strategists face perhaps the most difficult choice of all — whether to take the safe 'unity' strategy with Nixon as their candidate or to risk an emotional Goldwater delegate strategy to draft Reagan."
